

AMUSEMENTS TONIGHT. NEW ERA AT ATHLETICS. RENEWING HIS LEGS.

Edmond's Grand—"One of the Finest." Smith's Opera House—Vanderbilt performance.

PUBLIC OPINION. People who think the country is progressing at a gallop never visit the rural hamlets. I was in the country recently when a woman came into the postoffice, which was in the back end of a general store. She had a letter in her hand marked "In haste." "Mr. Jenkins," she said, to the postmaster, "won't a cent carry this letter?" "No, Mrs. Gallagher," he replied. "It's a letter I've writ to my sister in Illinois."

Residents of the Tenth ward, especially those on the southern part of Madison avenue, seem to have a good many grievances. A lady, the wife of a prominent railroad man, said to me yesterday: "We are having a bad time trying to get our mail out here. Some time ago we had two deliveries a day, but a few days ago we had only one. I tried to get our mail in the morning and now they have changed it to the afternoon and we don't get our mail until 4 o'clock, and often our letters come late. I asked the carrier the other day why we didn't get our mail twice a day and he said we were rushed for time and only delivered where it was most convenient in the neighborhood. The mail was delivered on Clark street, just a block from our place. There aren't nearly so many mail carriers here as there are on Madison avenue and still they get their mail twice to our office. I believe we are entitled to have more mail carriers here than they have added five more carriers to the force I think we should have."

"I see that Mr. De Haven, the new general passenger agent of the C. & W. M., believes in advertising, and evidently takes an active interest in the form and construction of his ads," remarked a prominent lawyer yesterday. "I have just read an ad, except there is something unique or striking about it. But what I do hate to see is an ad that recites the same facts and figures over and over again. The advertiser is an eye-seer to the readers, and the advertising manager of every paper should have a list of such ads, and put in the original and attractive. The people who read these ads are interested in novelty, and advertisers will find that they receive more benefit from bright, interesting ads than from those that remain standing a long time."

"I wish I was going out to town to be gone until the first of December," said a business man on Monroe street yesterday, as he showed me a ticket he had just purchased. The ticket was for a round-trip ticket to the Masonic fair. "That's the third ticket I have bought today and it isn't near night yet. I expect to have a run on these tickets, because the fair is so interesting. I am interested in the fair, will be in to see a ticket on something or other, so I cleaned out my desk the other day and it's filled up pretty fast. I tell you. Of course we will probably get a flood of letters from the fair, but what we pay out we put down as applied to charity."

National Control of Railways. It is a recent proposal to be timely to observe that the national control of railways is the only way by which the travel and traffic of the country can be controlled from constant interference by the result of quarrels between the corporations and their employees. National control of the one hand would be based upon the guaranteed rights of employees, and the force of public opinion, informed by the perfect publicity of the management and acting directly through the congress would insure their just and humane treatment and the redress of grievances. On the other hand, the control of the nation would guarantee the public at large against any forcible interference with the railroad lines. It is proposed that the national control should be dependent upon the maintenance of a good understanding between their employees—Edward Bellamy in Forum.

Successful Co-operation. The celebrated opera operators, who started only twenty-six years ago on the humblest scale imaginable, have a capital stock, every share of which is owned by a single shareholder. Profits distributed to members have reached $200,000,000, while the total sales for 1909 showed an increase over the year 1883 of $10,000,000.—Commercial Advertiser.

The New York board of walking delegates, aided by District Attorney Felver, scored one of the September grand jury verdicts. The grand jury returned an indictment for conspiracy against the delegates. It took the grand jury less than twenty minutes to knock the indictment in the head and read the fresh jury a sort of riot act.

RENEWING HIS LEGS.

Light Footed with His Teeth. A few days ago John H. Bayley, well known sportsman, appeared at the Four Courts and complained to the police that he had been robbed of a diamond stud valued at $300, for the recovery of which he would give $200. He stated that he was in company with a man named John H. Bayley, and that they had been walking down the street when he noticed a diamond stud in his pocket. An Aroskoot Product. The annual "potato raid" is in progress in Aroskoot, Me., as the starch factories are beginning to receive their crop. This is one of the most novel sights to be witnessed in this section of the country. The long line of teams hauling the potatoes to the factories, and the great return to unload. There is a great crop in Aroskoot this year, the largest ever raised in that section. This would be a good supply for the factories, as the latter are paying very good prices. There are about forty factories in Aroskoot county, and in that section they use upward of two million bushels yearly. It is seen that potato raising and starch making in Aroskoot is a business of considerable magnitude.—Cort. Boston Transcript.

A Black Hiss Nugget. A few days since John White, of Bear Gulch, brought in a nugget taken from a vein which he discovered in that district, which weighed 40 pennyweights 6 grains. In removing the sand from the gold a piece of the original nugget was broken off. The two pieces now weighing 24 pennyweights 6 grains, the other 15 pennyweights, are on exhibition at the store of the Aroskoot Hardware Store. The nugget is a valuable find, but it is a pity that it is not larger. It is a pity that it is not larger. It is a pity that it is not larger.
