WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1930.

FOR RIVER IMPROVEMENT: Monday morning we published the answer of Senator McQueen to the board of trade to Col. Ludlow, who had desired information showing the importance of improving Grand river.

The secretary's answer is strong because of the changed facts of the situation. This city has nearly one thousand factories. The annual production of these factories approaches a round total of $29,000,000.

The combined tonnage of river and railroad traffic is nearly 1,121,000,000, which is an increase of 433,000,000 over the previous year. The passenger traffic in and out was nearly 310,000.

These are the figures that prove the magnitude of Grand Rapids. Its population is near 50,000, but its business is larger than is that of that total population. Grand Rapids is like the Dutchman's horse. "It is little, but oh, my!"

It is a growing city, and just at this time is promising a greater growth than in any previous year.

The future of this city is assured. It is built on the most prosperous line of manufacture in the United States, furniture making. This is not only at present prosperous, but promises to expand to meet the wants of a field as wide as the world.

The fact is so complimentary to our city presented to the United States Engineer department by the board of trade, a testimony to the faithful work of the efficient secretary of the board of trade.

THE CUMULATIVE LAW: The program laid out by the Michigan Press for not only its voice in condemnation of the action of the county returning board on the city legislative ticket, although ready to call a halt to any unfair counting out of Republican congressmen.

We are afraid to take the wrong doors to task at home of which there is more necessity than to take on about those afar off.

In the first place as to the action of the county board it can be said that justice was done, that is, the decision respected the will of the majority and we believe the majority should rule in any and all elections.

In the second place we understand the general election law that was passed subsequent to the cumulative election law, by its provision forbidding the counting of two ballots for one man, rendered the cumulative vote futile.

If the board deliberately set aside law it did wrong whether that law was constitutional or not. The board has no power to pass on the constitutionality of any law which is a violation of the law as it finds it.

Does the Telegram-Herald believe that the cumulative voting law is just and fair? Does it not believe the majority should rule, and was not this law a plain trick to defeat the will of the majority, just the kind of an appropriation based on a gerrymander?

THAT UNIVERSITY MEN: We have received the following letter from a Grand Rapids student in the Michigan University:

ANN ARBOR, Nov. 17, 1930. Editor Morning News: I am writing you herewith an editorial which I want to see in your paper November 16.

It is a matter of justice to Michigan, and also the 45 students here from Grand Rapids. I also enclose an article which is not correct as far as Michigan is concerned, and I am hoping you will give it attention.

Two weeks ago I was told by some men of your article describing to me all the trouble they were not interested in, as they were and in with me.

The University of Michigan has the support of all the papers in the immediate vicinity, which are mostly able to correct articles.

W. J. SCHMIDT: The article to which Mr. Schmidt refers is the Ann Arbor correspondence of the Detroit Times, in which the trouble was attributed to the Michigan University in refusing back to students under arrest and confining them in jail.

These students were under arrest for "rushing" at the postoffice and in explanation it is said the postoffice is small and the hours for delivery short, and the effort of 2,000 students to get mail in a short time from a postoffice that will only hold 200 parcels.

THE MORNING PRESS took the position that this trouble came originally from vicious students who are at the university for a four years' delinquency on the part of rich "daddy" professors who would dismiss such fellows there would be no such troubles as the one that now shames all parties concerned.

We do not believe the state of Michigan should appropriate a dollar for the national G. A. R. encampment in Detroit next year. But we do think the encampment should be held in Detroit, and its citizens should individually subscribe the fund necessary for the expense.

THE FROE PRESUMES estimates the total vote of the Industrial party at about 15,000. This is a surprisingly large vote under the circumstances. The vote for Partridge is put at about 30,000, which is a large Prohibition gain.

PUBLIC OPINION: There is considerable buzzing in Democratic circles over the rumor that Sheriff McQueen is about to appoint to important places on his staff John Myers and George W. Demers.

Very influential Democratic chiefs yesterday if McQueen made those appointments they would begin work against him to defeat his re-nomination next year.

"I have urged upon you," says McQueen, "the selection of certain friends for subordinate positions, but I shall not feel aggrieved if those men are not appointed." Only two Democrats are appointed in their stead, but if the appointments men depicted by the Bishop and who worked openly against the Democratic ticket as hirings of Republicans.

"If they do not furnish adequate and satisfactory service to the public, there may be others ready to step in."

"I liked the position Alderman Turner took in the street railway discussion in the council last night," remarked a prominent citizen yesterday. Mr. Turner, in his contention that the company which proposes to abandon a number of lines now in operation, should give a guarantee that the extensions projected by the company should be carried out.

"There are a lot of young scamps in the neighborhood who do not scruple to steal papers or do almost anything," was the charge expressed in a letter coming from a citizen who was "kicking" about his own business office as I passed through it yesterday.

FATTENING TURKEYS FOR MARKET: Helpful Hints on a Subject of General Importance.

To obtain the greatest size good feeding, including green stuff and animal food, must be supplied from the first. On most farms, however, the regular food consists of corn, wheat, and clover. It has been a habit to keep them from wandering far from home, rather than to confine them to a small space.

In former times it was considered that the larger birds were the choicest, but there is now a good demand for medium sized birds, provided these be plump and otherwise in fair condition.

The opportunity comes—a dark night and tempestuous. The winds have covered the trees, the roof and there is a howling wind which drowns all other sounds. The pigmy vessel makes ready to start.

In the darkness they seek their adventures, generally, and are a deadly purpose, since they take the protectors of their native land. The boat searches for a time in vain, for the big ship has covered all lights and is lying like a sleeping monster upon the waves.

Perhaps the ship reported, and the rigging would be found here, but "Goliath" becomes uneasy; he fears "David" will make an attack, so he has determined to wait.

A dazzling cone of white light suddenly starts from a point in the darkness and broadens upon the water. The little vessel, however, is in a circling arc. All at once the little boat is bathed in a brilliant, blinding glare.

The monster's eye finds it, and the enemy the battle ship has disclosed itself, and the dankest little adversary steams sharply about, and the rocket strikes a small shell are falling about like hail upon the water, but the monster cannot keep the range of the onrushing boat.

Suddenly the great ship looms up tall, long, shadowy, overpowering. It is not a vessel of war, but a monster, attacked. Yet a little closer, and the intrepid pigmy, still unharmed, slows and steadies, with that ominous blackening of the port, the monster's blazing side. Shots are falling upon the boat, and the man who was steering has taken refuge in his iron tower.

But before the boat can turn a full, heavy shock has jarred the sea. A gigantic column of white water rushes upward toward the black clouds. In the tall masts of the monster ship seem to sway about and clash together.

Economy Is Wealth: But there is a story of a young man employed by the Van Ooye Co. who, after fruitless endeavors to get his salary raised, finally went to William H. Geo. G. Stetee, who was kindly received, but when it came to the question of an increase of salary, Mr. Vanderbilt said: "Young man, the trouble here is not that you are not getting what you deserve, but that men do not get salaries enough, but that they are extravagant and do not know how to live on their salaries."

his pocket, and after a little figuring said: "Mr. Vanderbilt, as I figure it, I should have given you a salary of $50,000 a year, and I will give you $25,000 a year and I will let the president and I hoarded every cent of it during these 6,000 years, he would still be $50,000 poorer than you are. Am there not possibly other ways of getting ahead besides saving one's salary?"

Mr. Vanderbilt quickly closed the interview, but he had ordered the young man's salary raised in recognition of his coolness and keenness. This young man is recalled as one reads from time to time of Chauncey M. Depew addressing the young men of the village of New Rochelle, N. Y. The advice is always good, but the man who knows most about how the Vanderbilts acquired control over $40,000,000 worth of railroad stock to enlighten the young men on a few other points now and then.—Boston Globe.

THE PEOPLES COLUMN. Science vs. Religion.

Science vs. Religion. Editor MORNING PATRIOT. Religion is a system of beliefs and dogmas formulated into creeds and worship.

It is pleasant to recall that Bishop F. D. Huntington is not of that class of clergymen. He sees, as all intelligent people see, that the world is rapidly broadening, and that the cause which gives congress power to regulate commerce with foreign nations is not a religious one.

"More than half the religious organizations of the world are at present preoccupied with the question of how to support their churches in the evidence given by the very building in which its adherents worship."

For over fifteen hundred years the church has taught that the sins of man are as scarlet, though he commit every crime in the catalogue of the law, and that he must at the eleventh hour of a long life, yet shall he be made white as wool in the twinkling of an eye.

It is regretted that these opportunities referred to by the bishop which is almost wholly to blame that Thaddeus B. Bellamy is not a citizen in this country which is the subject in October Area. "It is not generally recognized, as it should be, that the large majority of our people in this country are not of the population of the United States."

THE PULPIT AND LABOR.

THE MODERN CHURCH DOES NOT STAND FOR CHRISTIANITY.

Judgment of the Common People Voted by an eminent Divinity—Edward Bellamy's Programme for Bringing About Economic Changes.

The first step, he says, should be the nationalization of telegraphs and telephones. He says that the constitution makes it the business of congress to establish and conduct a postal service. The business of this service is the transmission of intelligence.

The fourth step proposed by Mr. Bellamy is the nationalization of the coal mines. Coal is of such importance to the nation that the several states should be urged to allow it to be controlled by rapacious, corrupt, or otherwise unworthy persons.

In his Pittsburgh speech Mr. Dewey pulled up his history of the Brotherhood of Railroad Employees.

Women will find it difficult to spare the time and strength at the dressmaker's for the fitting and trying on of two or three gowns.

ATTENTION TO THE FOLLOWING FACTS AS A REASON FOR THE OPINION.

What will Mr. Dewey say to this from one of the champions of his class?

In 1882 the membership of the order was something like 100,000. The strikes of 1888, 1889 and 1893 gave it an immense impetus.

The ladies, who for one entire week have devoted their time to the fair, to say nothing of the preliminary work performed by them, are entitled to our gratitude.

The railroads, who by their kindness in giving reduced rates, enabled many of the workers to contribute to our fair, have also placed us under many obligations.
