

PREPARING FOR A FIGHT ON THE SIOUX RESERVATION.

The authorities trying to overcome the Sioux tribes are preparing for a fight on the Sioux reservation. The troops are being moved and the situation is critical.

PREPARED TO FIGHT. The Sioux Indian reservation, immediately across the Missouri river from this city, and which extends entirely across the western end of the state, is the scene of the present Mesal dancs which are expected to result in an Indian war at any moment.

The trouble at the present moment centers about the Pine Ridge agency, on the very southern edge of the reservation. Upon this Nebraska state line troops were being thrown and the agency last night, and every preparation made to meet any outbreak the Indians may make. This city is being flooded by half breeds and squaw men.

It is believed that the trouble will remain among the Indians upon the reservation through fear that every one not a thoroughbred redskin will be slaughtered. The same condition of things is reported to exist at all the other Sioux reservations anywhere near the Grand reservation. It is stated that the rush of troops toward Pine Ridge agency has aroused the Indians to fury, and that Red Cloud and Little Wagon, the two leading chiefs, threaten to commence the war today. Of this, however, no confirmation has been received.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—General Miles says that the expectation is very different from the confidence which led Miller to predict the precise date of the second coming 50 years ago. The present millennialists do not undertake to either open the books or restore the world to its original state the day after the resurrection of the Lord. They merely interpret the signs and portents of this particular period as indicating that the beginning of His earthly reign approaches. They look for this century, perhaps, to end certainly in the early part of the next century. The prevailing opinion among them, too, is that the coming of the Lord will precede the millennium, and not follow it.

It is believed that the coming of the Lord will precede the millennium, and not follow it. The signs of the times seem to them to indicate that the millennium is near. The present political upturning is believed to be the political upheaval through which we have passed this month. The wars of the past century, the great wars, the war now made on so gigantic a scale throughout civilization, the spread of the electric light, the earthquake, the climatic variations, the social disquiet and the general unrest, are all signs, they believe, that the great day is not far off. The prospect is a bright one, they say, and they are glad to hear that they did not think they discovered the signs of the millennium.

This impression is strong among the Baptists and Methodists, and it affects the minds of the members of the Episcopalians. Bishop Cleveland Coxe of Western New York has for many years been preaching the millennium, and Sankey, Gen. Booth of the Salvation Army, and the evangelists of this kind are generally sustained in the same hope. The air seems to them to be rustling with the wings of the angelic army gathering for the second advent.

Chinese Merchants Skipped Out. San Francisco, Nov. 20.—The members of Fung, Young & Co., one of the most extensive Chinese merchandise houses, and who are also labor contractors, have fled to China with $40,000, the San Francisco police say. The creditors returned from Alaska. George Ten Ven and Hae Men Sen comprise the bulk of the creditors. The firm's liabilities are $300,000, making liabilities of $600,000. It is stated that failures amounting to $1,000,000 are being reported by Chinese firms during the past month.

Miss Marlowe Will Recover. NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Julia Marlowe has so far recovered that her physicians feel safe in stating that all danger is passed. Dr. Howell prescribes a course of medicine which will swell all the abscesses so that the contemplated operation is not likely to be attended with any danger, and sleep will last night and is much refreshed today.

The Knights Are in Politics. DENVER, Colo., Nov. 20.—The Knights of Labor adjourned finally tonight, after deciding in the future to participate in no more of the meetings of the Knights of Labor. The session was noted for the little work accomplished.

Quiet at Mandan. ST. PETERS, Nov. 20.—A special from Mandan, N. D., says that the soldiers from Fort Salter have gone to Fort Yates. The excitement is subsiding and many settlers have returned to their homes.

A Wholesale Indictment. NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 20.—The grand jury have just concluded their investigation in the Honesty murder case and have brought in a true bill against all the prisoners—18 in number.

FAIL safe boots, shoes and rubbers now going on at the Sample Shoe Co., 102 Canal street. Ladies rubbers 10c per pair offered in this sale.

They Fear an Ambush. RUSSELL, Neb., Nov. 20.—The report so often last night that a battle had been fought in which the soldiers and Indians were killed, is false. So far no outbreak has occurred, but trouble is expected here. Reports from the Grand reservation that the soldiers and Indians were killed, is false. THE LORD'S COMING

The Baptists in Convention say the Hour is at Hand—Signs and Portents of the Last Day.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The conviction that the second coming of the Lord is at hand is strong to the last numbers of a Christian believers, and therefore a convention of the Baptists is now in session in Brooklyn to give solemn consideration to the momentous subject.

It is believed that the coming of the Lord will precede the millennium, and not follow it. The signs of the times seem to them to indicate that the millennium is near. The present political upturning is believed to be the political upheaval through which we have passed this month.

This impression is strong among the Baptists and Methodists, and it affects the minds of the members of the Episcopalians. ENGLISH FREEDOM.

Telegraphers Operators Think it More Desirable Than American.

The following from the Telegrapher, the organ of the American telegraphers, may explain why the operators generally are in favor of the English plan for placing the telegraph lines of the country under the control and management of the national government.

Our English cousins recently petitioned for a redress of grievances. Formerly they were only allowed three weeks leave of absence each year with full pay; now they have a month. When sick they were allowed but half pay with free medical attention, and now they are allowed a month and half pay in all.

They are also allowed to begin their work at 4 in the morning and end off at 4 p. m., with 30 minutes for lunch, whereas they were formerly allowed but 20 minutes. At the expiration of a certain number of years service they are brought for a pension sufficiently large to enable them to live in comfort.

Organization has done much to bring about the reforms. The American telegraphers are the most satisfactory state of affairs. Operators in England are not dissatisfied with their organization. They can be only discharged for cause, and are not subject to a summary dismissal. What matters their opinion of "free America," where corporations are allowed to confer the right of work on employees, simply because they employ a secret, beneficial, protective or otherwise, is not a matter of course. It is a powerful influence to prevent them from securing employment with opposition to the democratic during the absence of their friends across the water do not know when they are well off.

BALFOUR'S LAND BILL

Given for Exercising a New County in the Upper Peninsula.

Norway Current: There is a lot of quiet scouting going on looking toward the erection of a new county out of the northern part and a part of Iron county. As far as Norway is concerned it is well enough off as it is, and don't want to be cut off from Anemomie and tacked to Iron Mountain as a source of "revenue only."

While the people of Norway have no objection to the prosperity of Iron Mountain, they do not feel like contributing to its growth and importance with no prospects of adequate returns. The only argument we have so far heard is the one that the formation of a new county would be a fine chance for the new governor (Winans) to appoint a corps of Democratic county officials, and as nearly as we can learn the would-be officials are the prime movers in the agitation of the question of division. Time was when the question of division would have had strong supporters in the Democratic party, but the organization with a fair prospect of being able with the aid of the other taxpayers to pay the cost of the division is not in the question of expenditures does not propose to tacked to Iron Mountain as a source of "revenue only."

The ceremony was conducted by Rev. Dr. Campbell, assisted by Mr. J. H. Ball, of this city, as master of ceremonies. The bride was Miss Josephine Kraft, of Buffalo, N. Y., and the groom was Mr. W. H. Ball, of Buffalo, N. Y. The ceremony was held at 8 o'clock, and was attended by a large number of friends. The bride was dressed in white, and the groom in a dark suit. The ceremony was a simple one, and was conducted in a quiet and intimate manner. The bride and groom were accompanied by their parents and other relatives. The ceremony was a success, and the bride and groom were united in holy matrimony.

"Science vs. Religion."
EDITOR MORRIS PIERCE. Mr. Howell has given us a vigorous and well written article on the above subject...

Man, it is true, has been guilty of horrible crimes during his entire history, but he has also performed deeds which were truly sublime...

Mr. Howell seems determined not to distinguish between "pious religion and the religion of the world..."

Looking lastly in the mirror to see whether any true stains were visible on the white of his eyes...

Mr. Howell knows that in all ages science has been arrayed against religion, and that the progress threatened by the very existence of the craft...

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

"Dickens' 'Bleak House.'" is one of the most interesting of that great author's stories, and the play is one of the strongest on the stage today.

Next week Clay M. Greene's version of "The Great Cat" will be presented by a capable company at the Lyceum theater.

A matinee will be given at Smith's opera house this afternoon, when all the specialties embraced in the excellent vaudeville performance will be presented.

A Hard Corner. The age of 35 is a hard corner for a woman to turn, and 35 is still harder. She feels that she is fast leaving youth behind her...

ONE OCTOBER MORNING.

Flowers stood on the window sills; all sorts of pretty knickknacks and young appointments brightened up the room...

The golden rays impinged long and close on the bride's shapely head, but they found no reflection in the face beneath; it was ashen...

By this time the young wife, in spite of herself, was crying quietly. It was not a heavy weeping, but she wept no more than she could help...

Mr. Howell is ready to see you, ma'am, whenever you wish to come, the girl said respectfully.

"How do you feel this morning, mother?" asked Elizabeth. "I feel as if I had a headache," answered the young wife, hoping thus to account for her clouded face.

It must come some time. They will be all right by evening. I am sorry Henry gave to me this morning with my mail. I hastily broke it open without even glancing at the outside...

In the meantime Elizabeth did not get a chance to enter the wood; for, as she stopped by the bent tree, she glanced up and saw the man who had been with her...

Elizabeth stood her ground. "I have no objection to your treating into the wood," she told herself; "they would only follow and hunt me up. I must stand firm."

But the party would not accept this. Mrs. Clifton the elder was not to be trifled with. She was a woman of a certain character...

Presently Henry told her how near he was to the wood. "I will go with you," he said, tenderly, and Elizabeth whispered: "Let us go to think; the next we know how foolish I have been."

The word 'Mrs.' is written very much like 'Miss' in the original. It is a pity that the printer gave to me this morning with my mail. I hastily broke it open without even glancing at the outside...

Elizabeth received the extended envelope with a beating heart. She opened it and took out the inclosure—two sheets of closely written note paper—looked at that and then up at her husband...

"I have not read it all," he said in a very quiet tone. "Perhaps if you had you would have seen it was not for me," his wife answered, just as quietly.

Elizabeth felt only a terrible anger at the feeling of being deceived. She looked at the letter again, while her husband watched her in dull amazement. What did this mean? Was it guilt or innocence?

Suddenly it flashed over her what her husband must have felt when he saw the words enclosed in the page—"My own darling"—that must have stared at him the instant he unfolded the sheet.

FARM FIELD, GARDEN.

The Magnitude Attained by the Seed Industry of the Country—Popular Factors Among Our Foremost Seedsmen. A Word About Seed Catalogues.

Few persons, whether farmers or not, are so ignorant of the value of a good seed business in this country, as compared with other times when every farmer grew his own garden seeds...

One of the things to be guarded against in the use of seeds grown in the garden is the danger of the introduction of varieties of noxious weeds. This danger attaches chiefly to grass and grain seeds...

GREAT GRANITE GORGE.

A Vista Viewed from the Canyon Along the Banks of the Colorado. The great Granite Gorge about forty miles length, was first seen by the first of the Bright Angel creek, some fifteen miles, is narrow, dark and deep...

The canyon grows more and more picturesque and beautiful the farther we proceed. The granite has lost its red and threatening look, and appears in beautiful billings of variegated black, gray and green.

There rise sheer walls of stained marble 1,000 feet or more, the lower portions being brown and red, the coloring of the granite and the light gray of the top. Above this smaller benches of marble, at the top of each a little mesa covered with green brush grass...

There is a certain amount of satisfaction perhaps in giving a whimsical name to a thing which is often required to give such explanation that they become a burden. A Boston lady lately related this little story of her cat...
