

RIOT AND

THE POLICE MEET A MOB AT SWEET RIVER DEPOT.

A few minutes later in which Detective Smith is injured and one of the rioters seriously hurt.

A riot which occurred at the Sweet street depot early yesterday morning was the subject of a police report. The riot was a group congregated. The circus came with the same pomp and splendor as of yore, but when the procession disappeared it was forgotten, and the conversation again reverted to the battle between the police and the discontented workmen at the wheel-pit. For Tuesday night meeting, had been announced for the 'Barbers' union, the Shapers' union and the Retail Grocers' Union.

After several resolutions had been adopted, a general strike of all unions in the city. The crowd which numbered about 70 marched down the O. H. Haller street and proceeded to break the wheel, thereby disabling the entire north end cable line. The crowd which numbered about 70 marched down the O. H. Haller street and proceeded to break the wheel, thereby disabling the entire north end cable line.

The police had discovered that the men had decided to attack the wheel pit, and at headquarters everything was in a state of commotion. The rioters were armed and all were trying the action of their revolvers, others tightening their belts, while still others were standing stock still, presumably thinking if the rioters would come down upon them they could preserve themselves by running down benignly upon their heads of helmets.

On reaching the Sweet street depot the police divided and concealed themselves on each side of the track, some in the lower end of the building, others in the upper end. The rioters were armed and all were trying the action of their revolvers, others tightening their belts, while still others were standing stock still, presumably thinking if the rioters would come down upon them they could preserve themselves by running down benignly upon their heads of helmets.

Residents in the vicinity of the riot were very late last night, however, acknowledged that he saw the riot, but that he did not see any of the rioters. The riot was a group congregated. The circus came with the same pomp and splendor as of yore, but when the procession disappeared it was forgotten, and the conversation again reverted to the battle between the police and the discontented workmen at the wheel-pit.

CANADA MOURNS

Funeral Services Over the Remains of Sir John A. Macdonald at Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 10.—With all the pomp and ceremony befitting a state funeral and the distinguished dead, the remains of Sir John A. Macdonald, were borne this afternoon from the senate chamber, where they had lain in state since yesterday morning, to St. Alban's church, where they were interred. The funeral was a grand affair, and the public buildings were shrouded in black, flags fluttered at half mast, and all places of business were closed.

From an early hour this morning a vast crowd thronged the approaches to the parliament buildings and lined the thoroughfares through which the funeral cortege would pass. The streets were a scene of mourning. The houses along the route of the procession were draped in black, and in every window a wreath of flowers was to be seen.

The senate chamber rested the casket in the middle of the city, and it was there that the funeral cortege was formed. The casket was borne by the members of the senate, and it was with a solemn and impressive procession that it was carried to the church.

USING THE BOYCOTT

St. Louis Druggists strengthen their Union.

St. Louis, June 10.—There is a drug boycott in St. Louis. It was inaugurated just one week ago today and since that time no local retail druggist who is a member of the retail druggists' association has been able to purchase supplies of any kind from any of the wholesale houses.

The boycott has gone into the boycott at the request of the retailers' association, the druggists have been protesting in hopes of forcing the retailers where not in the association to enter their organizations and join with them in holding up the prices on patent medicines.

THE BANKS AND THE BONDS

Secretary Foster Working the Treasury for the Benefit of the Wall Street 'Hyacks.'

Over fifty millions of the government 4 1/2 per cent bonds are about due and payable. Secretary of the Treasury, Foster, proclaiming that there were no more bonds to be issued, has endeavored to bribe out these old, blood-hound obligations, but suggests—and this after days of private consultation with the bankers of Wall street—that this government's debt shall not be taken up.

The whole affair is another high-browed game between the Treasury and Wall street. Probably a million dollars of bonds is in the plot; and the people will thus brand the whole transaction.

RED RIVER FLOODS

Lives Lost and Considerable Property Swept Away.

St. Louis, Mo., June 10.—A special from Ardmore, Indian Territory, says that a terrible flood has occurred in Washington on May 29th and got out of debt? Must the nation with a plethoric treasury continue to borrow money, even at 2 per cent? Must the republic be taxed in its bonds as hard as business men's money? Certainly not.

But here is the scheme, which any man with brains can understand, and every taxpayer with pluck ought to denounce and brand. The government has issued $30,000,000 of bonds, and (we are coolly informed) can control the other $30,000,000; and the banks want the bonds as the basis upon which the government, under the present law, can issue $30,000,000 of money to them at the mere cost of printing it!

So, by this plot, the nation will continue to pay 2 per cent on borrowed money, and the government will be able to issue $30,000,000 of money to them at the mere cost of printing it! Troopers Who Took Part in the Wesley Wain Lycoming Incident.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., June 10.—The grand jury impaled to investigate the lynching of A. S. Hunt by soldiers April 25, made report to the Superior court by the grand jury that the soldiers were guilty of the crime.

There is no doubt that Colonel Campbell did not believe his troops would make an attack on the county jail, although the prosecuting attorney and sheriff interviewed him regarding the reports which reached them on the prime-named lynching of Hunt. But the attack on the jail was made by the soldiers.

SCANDAL FILL THE AIR

THE QUEEN SEEN TO HAVE EXPRESSED HER DISPLEASURE IN STRONG TERMS.

LONDON, June 10.—Sir William Gordon Cumming was married at 11 o'clock this morning in the fashionable Hotel Trinity church at Chelsea, to Miss Florence Gardner, daughter of the late Commodore William Gardner of New York City. Major Vane Dawson, of the Coldstream Guards, was the best man. Rev. Robert Byrton officiated.

The marriage was practically a secret marriage. Only twelve people were present at the ceremony. The bride was charming and happy, and the groom was proud-looking, cool and entirely self-possessed. There was no trace in his personal appearance of depression or unusual nervousness, from yesterday's verdict in the bacchara case.

Lady and Sir William Gordon Cumming left this city shortly after the ceremony for the bridegroom's estate, 1779, near Forres, in Scotland, where they will spend the honeymoon. In an interview today Sir William Gordon Cumming said that he has nothing to add to what he had said in the witness-box. The popular opinion in the city is that the scandal is over.

When the verdict was pronounced against him Sir William again offered to cancel his engagement to Miss Gardner, but the lady, believing in his innocence, refused to do so. She has since stated that the marriage should take place today.

It is expected Sir William and his wife will visit the United States in the autumn. Lady Gordon Cumming is the widow of the late Commodore William Gardner of New York, who was drowned in July, 1876, with his wife, and the shipwrecking of Mr. Gardner's yacht Mohawk.

Scenes of the bacchara scandal still were being collected by Sir William Gardner of New York, who was drowned in July, 1876, with his wife, and the shipwrecking of Mr. Gardner's yacht Mohawk.
