THE TENNESSEE STRIKE: The remarkable strike made by labor in that Tennessee where a truce has just been declared.

THE TENNESSEE STRIKE: This is a glorious assurance to the nation that the struggle in that state cannot be laboring more in military organizations submit to oppression or be murdered.

THE TENNESSEE STRIKE: The strike is not ended but peace prevails and a truce has been declared.

THE TENNESSEE STRIKE: These striking miners are determined to prevent the employment of convicts under contract with the state.

THE TENNESSEE STRIKE: Organized labor in this strike has undoubtedly put forward a reform that will prevail within a short time throughout the country.

THE TENNESSEE STRIKE: Of course the next men who pretend to believe the mine owners should be permitted to "run their own business."

THE TENNESSEE STRIKE: Although in doing so they prefer contract labor, and insist that they will not be forced to work under contract.

STORY OF A RUSSIAN.

IF IT IS TRUE HE HAS HIS FULL SHARE OF ADVENTURE.

It is that thirty-eight years old and has escaped from the mines of Siberia.

Recently there came to Boston a man whose story was probably never equalled by anybody, and probably will never be.

The good natured officer of the mine, who was Ivan Orloff, a Russian, was thirty-eight years old.

Orloff arrived in this city from New York a few days ago.

He was thin, and his face was yellow, but his eyes were bright and intelligent.

STORY OF A JAPANESE.

It is an odd thing that by no people on earth are children—both girls and boys—treated with more affection and indulgence than in the island republic of the Chinese—the Japanese, namely, and no children have a greater abundance of toys and amusements.

This ceremony has been largely built by donations from the business men of the city.
 Don't Wash Out Your Beauty.
 The eyes should always be wiped toward the nose, as it presses out the fine particles of cosmetics. Every woman who has heard of the virtues of rainwater for the complexion, but it is hard to procure this in city homes. A good substitute is to use a few drops of the best toilet soap in which lemon, orange or cucumber puff is allowed to soak. Water so impregnated with it will cleanse and brighten the complexion and make the skin glow and really freshen it. This is the only way which softens the skin.—New York Journal.

A Queen's Annual Ball.
 The Queen of Michigan has a bath once a year. While she observes her annual custom the populace sing hymns and pray drums. When she emerges from the tub, a train of attendants, dressed and decorated with crown jewels, a mighty cheer goes up from an unweaned crowd. This pageant is in regard to an act of tremendous courage, a submission to the cleansing influences of water.—London Times.
 If you go to the Lake today take the street car and ask for transfer on the Red's Lake electric road.

THE GREAT SALE.
 Here is a table which the whole country will soon begin to study with great interest. It shows the make up by states of the electoral college in 1892. Coal in a River.
 During the several freshets which have occurred in the Seneca river the past spring a vast amount of coal from the anthracite coal fields floated down the river with the debris coming out of the North End and its tributaries. Large quantities of this culm or coal dirt, which was washed from the logs and timber at the mouth of the coal breakers, lodged at the heads of the coal islands opposite and above the city, and recently parties have secured tons of this material for the purpose of screening it, producing a good quality of pea and chestnut coal for boiler use.
 A considerable quantity of egg or nut coal, in the form of small lumps, is found at the bottom of the river, where it is washed from the gravel, and is removed to the city for sale. The large sizes of coal have become more and more rounded by the action of the water. Tons of this material are gathered during the summer when the river is low, and are then sold for fuel.
Coal in a River.
 A Dog's Sympathy.
 Saturday afternoon a case of remarkable sympathy on the part of a dog was witnessed on Church street, near the corner of Adams street. A crowd of people gathered on the sidewalk, and a dog of the street was run over by a passing vehicle. He was not permanently crippled, but appeared hurt across the back, and fell at first in the gutter, and then in the street. Another dog of an entirely different breed was standing on the sidewalk at the moment when the accident occurred. Promptly he turned to the assistance of his injured companion, and by pushing him with his nose added him in rising, and then escorted him to the sidewalk with every possible demonstration of mute sympathy, and stood by him until the party had departed. The dog's conduct is a noble one, and well worthy of notice.
 To Keep Insects Off From Trees.
 The trying of a piece of wool round a tree trunk to keep the birds and the vermin is a poor idea, because it is based on the supposition that all these nuisances ascend from the ground, whereas, most instances, the eggs are laid in the foliage above the supposed guard.
 The only actual preventive involves a chemical operation, which, however, can be successfully performed on trees of a steady hand. It consists in boring a small hole in the tree near the ground and introducing into it a quantity of carbide which carries this over the tree and there will be few insects left to crawl on any part of it.
 The spring is the best time to do this, but with the best success it can be done now with perfect safety.
 St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Sets a Hundred Frauds.
 Three hundred sets at a hundred sets per post, and all of them killed. This, briefly, was the result of the cent uia fashionable charity performances given by the Duchesse U. V. The sets are made of the finest material and glow and really freshen the complexion while it softens the skin.—New York Journal.
