They Take No Steps to Straining the Middle But Are Anxious to Establish—Egan Takes the Refuges Along Ship.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—There can be no doubt that the Chilian affair is assuming a grave tone. The hull in the war talk which came with the holidays seem to have been only the calm which precedes the storm.

A few weeks ago the mention of any possible serious trouble with this country and Chili was greeted by members and senators with a shrug of indifference, but as reports of the investigation now in progress at San Francisco are read by them even the most doubtful seem to wake to a realization of the fact that a war with Chili is not a vague and distant possibility, but a reality.

The reports which have been circulating that Chili was on the verge of making an apology had led people to think that the matter was nearing a peaceable settlement, but at no time has the earliest stage of the exciting complications has the situation presented grave and threatening aspects as at present.

It is now positively known that Chilean troops have been ordered to march from all that can be learned her position can only be construed as arrangements for a military expedition.

It is stated that at the cabinet meeting today the president expressed the belief that the Chilean expedition is more serious than it has been at any time heretofore, and that in looking over the correspondence relative to the Chilean expedition appears that indicates any regret on the part of Chili for the outrage on Ancon.

The president expects that as soon as the investigation is concluded a brief of charges will be presented to the cabinet by Mr. Egan, who will be asked to sign them by wire. If the report is of the character which the testimony thus far indicates it is believed that the cabinet will meet to congress at once together with the correspondence between this country and Chile.

TAKEN ON SHIPBOARD.

Minister Egan Places the Refugees on Board the Yorktown.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—A cablegram has been received at the state department from United States Minister Egan stating that all the refugees, in a number of which have been under the protection of the American legation at Santiago, have been transferred to the United States man-of-war Yorktown, lying at anchor in the harbor of Valparaiso. It is thought that the navy department will be transferred from the Yorktown to some passing vessel to be landed at Callao, Peru; or if that is impracticable, the Boston, which is at Callao, will be ordered to receive the refugees at Callao.

In the present condition of affairs it is not thought likely that Minister Egan will be called to land today, and if the refugees can not be transferred to a passing coast steamer, it will be necessary to have the Boston ordered to Valparaiso to protect Minister Egan, while the Yorktown lands her political refugees to-day.

At the navy department it is stated that so far no orders have been sent to the Boston to return to Valparaiso, or for the Yorktown to leave that port. It is understood that the time of the calling of the Boston today will be with a discussion of the Chilean question and that some impatience was expressed with the delay in the Chilean government in approaching a settlement of trouble.

There is a prospect for a satisfactory settlement of the question of indemnity and an apology for the assaults upon American citizens does not seem to be in the least distant.

The government is not relaxing any effort to be ready for any emergency.

THE DEADLY GRIP.

IT IS RAGING WITH GREAT VIOLENCE IN EUROPE—ADDS LOSS AND PENALTY ALIEN—CHURCH DIGITARIES AFFLICTED.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—There is no abatement whatever in the epidemic influenza which is sweeping over England. On the contrary, the reports daily received from hundreds of places throughout the country show that the disease continues to spread with increasing virulence.

The present epidemic both in the United States and in Europe has been marked by the large number of ecclesiastical dignitaries it has claimed as victims.

Dispatches from Berlin and Vienna state that the disease shows no signs of abatement.

OBSTREPEROUS BEGGARS.

They Stop People to the Street and Compel Them to Give.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—New York is afflicted with a pest of beggars, who would be a better name for some of them. They infest the principal streets at night and hold up citizens.

At the time they travel from house to house and frighten women into giving them money.

At the navy department it is stated that so far no orders have been sent to the Boston to return to Valparaiso, or for the Yorktown to leave that port.

A LIVELY FIGHT BREWING IN THE PRESIDENT'S CABINET.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—The air full of rumors of a fight between Blaine and Harrison. The rumors cannot be substantiated; they may not be true, but they are heard on every side.

Without giving to Harrison any particular credit, the fact remains that during the present administration Blaine was not a man free to admit it than Blaine himself.

For some time past, according to the rumors, Blaine has been looking for the cessation of the Blaine talk. He has looked in vain.

All this may be true; it may not be true; it may be true; it may not be true; it may be true; it may not be true.

STEWART'S DISCOVERY.

Suppose it should turn out that Senator Stewart is right, that the act of 1873 did not really forbid the coinage of silver, it is likely that any party who take the position for the next election that the coinage of silver should cease until an international agreement could be made?

If such a position would not be taken from fear of the people and free silver coinage be tolerated as something that had to be endured, would it not be just to accept and adopt silver coinage to coincide with them, will the people well understand?

The political leaders had better listen to the people of the United States, rather than the bankers of Europe. The party that will accept and adopt silver coinage will be the party that will win the presidential year, the party that will declare for an American policy in accordance with the well known wishes of the American people, will be the party that will win the presidential year.

LIKED THE CITY OF CHURCHES.

A Brooklyn Man Who Had Only One Child as a Friend—Why do I like Brooklyn better than New York?

"Why do I like Brooklyn better than New York?" "I would tell you," said a former dweller on Manhattan Island, who is now living in the City of Churches, a reporter.

"I moved over here in the first place because rents were lower. It was not more than a week after we were settled when we received a pleasant call from people living in our block, and an invitation to make our church home in common with them in the city of churches."

A Bloody Day Remembered.

"Nineteen years ago today," said Inspector Brown—"I shall never forget that day's duty."

"I was ordered over to the Orangetown headquarters from my precinct at daybreak—I was captain of the Twenty-first team—and took every one of my men along except old Sergeant Davenport and a doorman. We expected trouble, and I had a lot of hand grenades heaped by the second story windows in the old station house in Thirty-first street, told the sergeant to take the doors and put my hat that would try to enter. Old Dave was as good as an arm when it came to striking. He just kept that pile of hand grenades and waited."

"He had a good long wait, if we did not. Those who walked in that bloody procession from the Eighth avenue headquarters of the Orangetown to the old Haymarket in the Bowery will be apt to remember it to their dying day. I can hear the crowd yell now when the militiamen began to shoot and the men on the ground to yell at the horsepots, it rained bricks and hot lead. A hundred men had been killed before the end of that march of terror and death."

"It was 3 o'clock the next morning before we got back to our quarters. It was as dark as night when we arrived. We hammered on the door and yelled a window in the second story was slowly and cautiously opened and old Dave said: 'Who is there?'"

"'Open the door,' yelled the tired men. 'Open it or we'll burn it in!' 'You will, eh?' came from upstairs in shrill tones, and in the window appeared the old sergeant, fighting mad, with a hand grenade in each fist and an eye in reserve, as if you carries movabals. 'Stand back there or you will be murdered,' he said."

"We had come all the long and bloody way, fighting every inch of it, without a thought of showing the white feather. Every mother's son of us would have been killed twice over rather than turn tail. But we ran then. Before old Dave, who had a fearful hand grenade, the army that had been in the city of churches scattered and fled. The sergeant was left to hold the fort alone until we boxed him from shelter into company, heading that we were not the enemy. Then he came down and let us in.—New York Telegram."
