

LOOSE THE DOGS OF WAR

THE NAVAL SQUADRONS ORDERED TO CHILL.
The dispatches this morning are more warlike than ever—Yessels are sent to the scene—Chill makes a Defeative Move—England Wants Peace.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Secretary Tracy was very busy today. He held interviews with the chairman of the committee on naval affairs and others, among whom was an official of the Red Star line of steamships with whom it is understood negotiations are pending for the purchase of certain steamers from that company in event of war.
It is stated that Admiral Walker, now at Montevideo with the Chicago, Atlanta and Bennington, has been ordered to Valparaiso. It is also learned that the Philadelphia flagship of Admiral Gherard's squadron in the West Indies, had sailed for Montevideo. This means a general naval movement of importance.

All the testimony taken by Remy at San Francisco has been received at the navy department and transmitted to the president. It is likely that it will be submitted to congress with the other matters.
It is regarded as very significant that the United States is reported to have very little in the press.
The president submitted to the cabinet a draft of a message to congress, cablegrams from Chill, which it is said do nothing towards settling affairs. It is generally expected that the Chilean matter will be given to congress to be decided at its last session.

As yet not a word has been said in either of the papers regarding the Chilean affairs. Neither is there much talk regarding the complications. It is, however, reported that the president's message will be at once acted upon and the affair settled. It is also reported that the president's message will be at once acted upon and the affair settled. It is also reported that the president's message will be at once acted upon and the affair settled.

CHILL'S BOLD MOVE

Admiral Walker to be intercepted at the Strait of Magellan.
New York, Jan. 19.—The Recorder's Washington special says a long dispatch was received yesterday afternoon at the navy department from Commander Evans. Captain Evans has reported to the department that he has been ordered to intercept the Chilean navy which will leave Valparaiso Jan. 20 for the Straits of Magellan, with a torpedo boat besides.

From another officer comes the additional information that the captain of the torpedo boat is to be ordered to intercept the Chilean navy which will leave Valparaiso Jan. 20 for the Straits of Magellan, with a torpedo boat besides.

Admiral Walker, in his flagship the Philadelphia, is to be ordered to intercept the Chilean navy which will leave Valparaiso Jan. 20 for the Straits of Magellan, with a torpedo boat besides.

ENGLAND WANTS PEACE

She has tendered her Good Offices to Straighten Out the Tangle.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—It is reported at the capital today the government of Great Britain has taken steps to bring about a more friendly feeling between the United States and England and will endeavor to effect settlement of the trouble.

A member of the foreign affairs committee of the house said this afternoon that he had not received information from the British government of the correctness of it. Other members who were seen had not learned of the report.
It is said that Chill is not in a position to make the necessary arrangements to take the British fleet to sea, and will endeavor to avoid a battle on which an amicable agreement might be effected.
England First Step Taken.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—President and Mrs. Harrison tonight gave the first state dinner of the season to a few private guests. Secretary and Mrs. Blaine were not present because of the indisposition of the former.

THE TENNESSEE WAR

THE SITUATION EXCEEDINGLY CRITICAL AND THREATENING.
The Miners Two Thousand Strong Camped Upon the Mountains—They Exchange Shots with the State Troops—Fight May be Expected Any Minute.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 19.—Early this morning between 1,000 and 3,000 miners gathered on the hills about the Coal Creek school to keep up a constant fire of small arms and held a semi-civilized ghost dance about the two small block-houses, which contain 200 state troops. The miners came so near the military pickets that the Coal Creek school was obliged to fire. None of the soldiers were hit, and it is thought that the miners retired without injury.

Ever since the miners accidentally killed a soldier and a soldier. They swear against the convict guards, state troops and convicts, and forward a petition to the governor of East Tennessee. The officer in charge has asked for reinforcements, and a company of 100 men has been sent out from Knoxville. The miners say that no more soldiers or convicts will be allowed to enter the mountains.

A fight is expected at any minute. The soldiers are well fortified, yet the miners are passing the night, arguing that the Kentucky miners and those about Jellico are ready to join their Tennessee friends at any moment's notice.

RIGHT SORT OF TALK

The Kalamazoo Milling Company ask to be dropped in Kalamazoo, Mich.
KALAMAZOO, Jan. 19.—Company C of the Second regiment Michigan state troops, sent today a memorial to Governor Harrison, passed last night, arguing that the first Michigan company called out in case of a war with Chili is the Kalamazoo Milling Company.

IMPROVING THE GRAND

Captain Belkap Looking After It, But Badly Hampered.
A Washington dispatch says Captain Belkap has received from the engineers engaged in completing the survey of the Grand River some details of the information which Colonel Ludlow's final report will contain.

He has been informed that the full report can not be transmitted to the committee after three days, and this will be something of an embarrassment to the committee on rivers and harbors. It will close its door for hearing Feb. 10. Not even members of congress will be permitted to make statements to the committee after that date.

NEWSBOY'S MEGALOMANIA

'Yankee' Sackett's Treat to the Little People.
'Yankee' Sackett as chaprone to 100 news boys was all smiles last evening at the Board of Trade restaurant over his grand success in making the hearts of the little newsboys of the city. Sackett was found in all the principal streets and corners. The original New York Casino costumes are carried by the company and the music is conducted by Maurice Godd.

Willard Stanton, formerly manager of the Grand opera house, was invited to present before the G. A. R. posts of this city his successful war drama "A Confederate Spy." Messrs. J. A. Justin and George W. Doty of Washington City were the producers. Messrs. Stanton & Maxam, in the following language: "We heartily recommend the close of the G. A. R. posts. Their dealings have been fair, square and honorable."
Redmond's opera house contained a large number of people last night at the second performance of the war drama "A Confederate Spy." The stage was brilliantly lit with lights, bright costumes and pretty girls and the grand American march was cheered to the echo. The drama was as bright and sparkling as ever and skipped around in a grand and happy way last afternoon and night the attraction will be "To-Go."
Smith's cozy theater was again filled last night with an audience that was perfectly delighted with the extraordinary entertainment. The charming soprano, caught the house at the start and anything she sang was heard with rapt attention. There were given in excellent style, and the company can be assured of a most important and profitable season.

THAT ANOTHER ATTACK

SECRETARY BLAINE AGAIN OVERTOME BY NAUSA.
White at the Cabinet Meeting He is Seized With Retention and Tended to Go Home—The Attack More Mild Than Former—The Trouncer of Appopley.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—There was some little excitement about the White House during the cabinet meeting this afternoon by reason of the sudden illness of Secretary Blaine.
He came to the White House about 11:45 o'clock and seemed to be in good health, but he had not been there more than half an hour when he complained of nausea and said he felt weak and faint. He suggested that he had better go home, and Secretary Elihu went with him. His regular physician was called during the cabinet meeting and was relieved of all feeling of nausea.
The attack was somewhat similar to that which he had experienced some time ago, and it is believed that he will have no serious or permanent effect.
Mr. Blaine seems all right tonight and is expected to return to his duties tomorrow. Some of his friends, however, fear that these attacks are the precursors of apoplexy.

Gorman Seeks Himself.
ANAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 19.—Hon. Arthur P. Gorman was re-elected today United States senator to succeed himself.

STATE ENGINEERS

The thirtieth annual convention of the State Association Now Being Held at the City Hall—The Proceedings.
The thirtieth annual convention of the State Engineering society was called together at the city hall yesterday afternoon and after a short session adjourned until 7 o'clock in the evening, when Mr. Davis of Ann Arbor addressed them upon the work of constructing the locks and shiplift at the city of Detroit.

Professor Smith opened his discourse with a review of the night, and Professor Gleason gave his second exhibition at Powers' opera house. Both had excellent subjects to work upon, and the audiences were more than well pleased with the performance.

Mr. Davis, after enlarging upon his subject, described the work of the subject was so interesting that Wm. Appleton of Lansing urged him to prepare a paper on the subject. Mr. Davis, after enlarging upon his subject, described the work of the subject was so interesting that Wm. Appleton of Lansing urged him to prepare a paper on the subject.

Mr. Davis, after enlarging upon his subject, described the work of the subject was so interesting that Wm. Appleton of Lansing urged him to prepare a paper on the subject.

ANNOUNCE SPRINGS

A New Summer Resort to be Started by Out-iders.
Thomas H. Briggs, of Battle Creek; Joseph W. McCausby, of Union City; Charles H. Tolson, of French camp, Michigan, have organized a new corporation and are advertising for subscribers to a new summer resort at Ann Arbor.

The People's Party Will Make a Fight for the National Committee of the Party.
The national committee of the People's party will be held here Monday, Feb. 2. The purpose of the meeting is to elect a national committee.

A GREAT TIDAL WAVE

WONDERFUL PHENOMENA IN GRAND TRAVERSE BAY.
The Water Recedes Nearly Seven Feet Then Rushes Back—No Explanation Offered—The Curious Occurrence—No Earthquake Has Been Reported.

TRAVERSE CITY, Jan. 19.—A curious phenomenon was observed by several citizens here last night and early this morning. The water in Grand Traverse Bay receded nearly seven feet from its normal level, and then rushed back to its former level. The water was so low that the bottoms of the boats were exposed. The phenomenon was observed by several citizens here last night and early this morning.

WEST MICHIGAN FAIR
Annual Meeting of the Society Yesterday Afternoon—Report of the Officers—Directors and Officers Chosen.
Owing to the prevalence of the grip the attendance at the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Western Michigan Agricultural and Industrial society, held at Sweet's hotel yesterday afternoon, was very small.

A Large Grain Ground Through Judge Hagerty's Mill.
Police court was held yesterday morning to the doors by a curious crowd of spectators who had gathered to hear the testimony in the examination of Charles Norton, charged with rape upon Lillie Eva Pennell. The prosecutor explained that he had been informed by the examination of their principal witness, who appeared to be afraid of the crowd of men in the lobby and halls. The room was cleared and then the little girl told her story in a straightforward manner.

President—Z. V. Cheney, Grand Rapids.
Vice-President—L. M. Sweet, Grand Rapids.
Treasurer—C. L. Whitney, Muskegon.
Resolutions—E. B. Dikeman, Grand Rapids.

Annual Report.
The annual report of the Grand Rapids Table company, filed yesterday with the county clerk, shows that the company has received capital stock, $80,000; paid in $7,300; personal property, $8,553.95; real estate, $2,654.78; credits, $9,070.70. The company has also received $1,000 in shares; A. F. Schafer, 125 shares; W. P. Leffingwell, 155 shares; Myron Flanders, 100 shares, and E. E. Flanders, 50 shares.

Intoxication.
The Star Clothing House is determined to reduce their stock of mens' winter overcoats and they now have a large quantity of overcoats for sale at a very low price and are advertising to do anything, they always do. Mr. Corrigan said they only sold thirty overcoats on Monday and yesterday, and he said today they would surely have a very large sale.

Keep Warm These cold nights by buying a pair of those nice blankets at Vogt, Herbolzheimer & Co's special sale.

Light goods best rolled oats 25c. KILLIAN'S GROCERY.
For the stationery go to Wykes & Burns, Cor. State and Grand.

ORDER YOUR WOOD OF E. A. HAMILTON.
ORDER YOUR COAL OF E. A. HAMILTON.

John Taylor, a well-known resident on the east side of the river north of the city, was arrested by the police on the west side of the river. He is charged with the circulation of the city and suburbs.

ADVERTISING RATES: Display advertisements 5 cents per inch for each 1000. Paper circulated.

For advertisements occupying less than three columns, rates will be advanced to meet the requirements of a preferred position.

Advertisement for the Detroit Free Press, dated Wednesday, January 30, 1909.

CIRCULATION YESTERDAY: Number of papers printed, 4,600.

Delivered by Carriers to City Subscribers, 4,175.

Not delivered, 445.

Total Paid Circulation, 4,620.

Subscription and City Circulation Books, Paper Account and Press Work Bill open for inspection by patron or client.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 30, 1909.

A SENE IN THE COURT: Judging from their appearance in the Police court one would conclude that Guy Johnson was the boon companion and intimate associate of Eastman and Hurley.

Daily throughout the trial of Hurley's prosecution of the libel against Eastman and side by side with Hurley and Eastman, and sometimes between them.

It was for this shameful service the prosecution held him in such loving and tender regard. For this he was accorded a seat of honor with the judge and his lieutenant.

For this he was admitted to their confidence. For this he was consulted in the side rooms and corridors. For this he was made the dear and pleasing chum of the highest police officers in the city.

The sight of this notorious gambler, sitting in a court between the chief and lieutenant of police, in intimate and confidential intercourse, having for their common cause the circulation of the libel against the Morning Press, Johnson sat side by side with Hurley and Eastman, and sometimes between them.

It was for this shameful service the prosecution held him in such loving and tender regard. For this he was accorded a seat of honor with the judge and his lieutenant.

For this he was admitted to their confidence. For this he was consulted in the side rooms and corridors. For this he was made the dear and pleasing chum of the highest police officers in the city.

The sight of this notorious gambler, sitting in a court between the chief and lieutenant of police, in intimate and confidential intercourse, having for their common cause the circulation of the libel against the Morning Press, Johnson sat side by side with Hurley and Eastman, and sometimes between them.

It was for this shameful service the prosecution held him in such loving and tender regard. For this he was accorded a seat of honor with the judge and his lieutenant.

For this he was admitted to their confidence. For this he was consulted in the side rooms and corridors. For this he was made the dear and pleasing chum of the highest police officers in the city.

The sight of this notorious gambler, sitting in a court between the chief and lieutenant of police, in intimate and confidential intercourse, having for their common cause the circulation of the libel against the Morning Press, Johnson sat side by side with Hurley and Eastman, and sometimes between them.

It was for this shameful service the prosecution held him in such loving and tender regard. For this he was accorded a seat of honor with the judge and his lieutenant.

For this he was admitted to their confidence. For this he was consulted in the side rooms and corridors. For this he was made the dear and pleasing chum of the highest police officers in the city.

The sight of this notorious gambler, sitting in a court between the chief and lieutenant of police, in intimate and confidential intercourse, having for their common cause the circulation of the libel against the Morning Press, Johnson sat side by side with Hurley and Eastman, and sometimes between them.

It was for this shameful service the prosecution held him in such loving and tender regard. For this he was accorded a seat of honor with the judge and his lieutenant.

For this he was admitted to their confidence. For this he was consulted in the side rooms and corridors. For this he was made the dear and pleasing chum of the highest police officers in the city.

The sight of this notorious gambler, sitting in a court between the chief and lieutenant of police, in intimate and confidential intercourse, having for their common cause the circulation of the libel against the Morning Press, Johnson sat side by side with Hurley and Eastman, and sometimes between them.

It was for this shameful service the prosecution held him in such loving and tender regard. For this he was accorded a seat of honor with the judge and his lieutenant.

For this he was admitted to their confidence. For this he was consulted in the side rooms and corridors. For this he was made the dear and pleasing chum of the highest police officers in the city.

The sight of this notorious gambler, sitting in a court between the chief and lieutenant of police, in intimate and confidential intercourse, having for their common cause the circulation of the libel against the Morning Press, Johnson sat side by side with Hurley and Eastman, and sometimes between them.

It was for this shameful service the prosecution held him in such loving and tender regard. For this he was accorded a seat of honor with the judge and his lieutenant.

For this he was admitted to their confidence. For this he was consulted in the side rooms and corridors. For this he was made the dear and pleasing chum of the highest police officers in the city.

The sight of this notorious gambler, sitting in a court between the chief and lieutenant of police, in intimate and confidential intercourse, having for their common cause the circulation of the libel against the Morning Press, Johnson sat side by side with Hurley and Eastman, and sometimes between them.

It was for this shameful service the prosecution held him in such loving and tender regard. For this he was accorded a seat of honor with the judge and his lieutenant.

For this he was admitted to their confidence. For this he was consulted in the side rooms and corridors. For this he was made the dear and pleasing chum of the highest police officers in the city.

The sight of this notorious gambler, sitting in a court between the chief and lieutenant of police, in intimate and confidential intercourse, having for their common cause the circulation of the libel against the Morning Press, Johnson sat side by side with Hurley and Eastman, and sometimes between them.

It was for this shameful service the prosecution held him in such loving and tender regard. For this he was accorded a seat of honor with the judge and his lieutenant.

For this he was admitted to their confidence. For this he was consulted in the side rooms and corridors. For this he was made the dear and pleasing chum of the highest police officers in the city.

The sight of this notorious gambler, sitting in a court between the chief and lieutenant of police, in intimate and confidential intercourse, having for their common cause the circulation of the libel against the Morning Press, Johnson sat side by side with Hurley and Eastman, and sometimes between them.

It was for this shameful service the prosecution held him in such loving and tender regard. For this he was accorded a seat of honor with the judge and his lieutenant.

For this he was admitted to their confidence. For this he was consulted in the side rooms and corridors. For this he was made the dear and pleasing chum of the highest police officers in the city.

The sight of this notorious gambler, sitting in a court between the chief and lieutenant of police, in intimate and confidential intercourse, having for their common cause the circulation of the libel against the Morning Press, Johnson sat side by side with Hurley and Eastman, and sometimes between them.

It was for this shameful service the prosecution held him in such loving and tender regard. For this he was accorded a seat of honor with the judge and his lieutenant.

For this he was admitted to their confidence. For this he was consulted in the side rooms and corridors. For this he was made the dear and pleasing chum of the highest police officers in the city.

The sight of this notorious gambler, sitting in a court between the chief and lieutenant of police, in intimate and confidential intercourse, having for their common cause the circulation of the libel against the Morning Press, Johnson sat side by side with Hurley and Eastman, and sometimes between them.

It was for this shameful service the prosecution held him in such loving and tender regard. For this he was accorded a seat of honor with the judge and his lieutenant.

For this he was admitted to their confidence. For this he was consulted in the side rooms and corridors. For this he was made the dear and pleasing chum of the highest police officers in the city.

The sight of this notorious gambler, sitting in a court between the chief and lieutenant of police, in intimate and confidential intercourse, having for their common cause the circulation of the libel against the Morning Press, Johnson sat side by side with Hurley and Eastman, and sometimes between them.

It was for this shameful service the prosecution held him in such loving and tender regard. For this he was accorded a seat of honor with the judge and his lieutenant.

For this he was admitted to their confidence. For this he was consulted in the side rooms and corridors. For this he was made the dear and pleasing chum of the highest police officers in the city.

The sight of this notorious gambler, sitting in a court between the chief and lieutenant of police, in intimate and confidential intercourse, having for their common cause the circulation of the libel against the Morning Press, Johnson sat side by side with Hurley and Eastman, and sometimes between them.

It was for this shameful service the prosecution held him in such loving and tender regard. For this he was accorded a seat of honor with the judge and his lieutenant.

For this he was admitted to their confidence. For this he was consulted in the side rooms and corridors. For this he was made the dear and pleasing chum of the highest police officers in the city.

The sight of this notorious gambler, sitting in a court between the chief and lieutenant of police, in intimate and confidential intercourse, having for their common cause the circulation of the libel against the Morning Press, Johnson sat side by side with Hurley and Eastman, and sometimes between them.

It was for this shameful service the prosecution held him in such loving and tender regard. For this he was accorded a seat of honor with the judge and his lieutenant.

For this he was admitted to their confidence. For this he was consulted in the side rooms and corridors. For this he was made the dear and pleasing chum of the highest police officers in the city.

The sight of this notorious gambler, sitting in a court between the chief and lieutenant of police, in intimate and confidential intercourse, having for their common cause the circulation of the libel against the Morning Press, Johnson sat side by side with Hurley and Eastman, and sometimes between them.

It was for this shameful service the prosecution held him in such loving and tender regard. For this he was accorded a seat of honor with the judge and his lieutenant.

For this he was admitted to their confidence. For this he was consulted in the side rooms and corridors. For this he was made the dear and pleasing chum of the highest police officers in the city.

The sight of this notorious gambler, sitting in a court between the chief and lieutenant of police, in intimate and confidential intercourse, having for their common cause the circulation of the libel against the Morning Press, Johnson sat side by side with Hurley and Eastman, and sometimes between them.

It was for this shameful service the prosecution held him in such loving and tender regard. For this he was accorded a seat of honor with the judge and his lieutenant.

For this he was admitted to their confidence. For this he was consulted in the side rooms and corridors. For this he was made the dear and pleasing chum of the highest police officers in the city.

The sight of this notorious gambler, sitting in a court between the chief and lieutenant of police, in intimate and confidential intercourse, having for their common cause the circulation of the libel against the Morning Press, Johnson sat side by side with Hurley and Eastman, and sometimes between them.

It was for this shameful service the prosecution held him in such loving and tender regard. For this he was accorded a seat of honor with the judge and his lieutenant.

For this he was admitted to their confidence. For this he was consulted in the side rooms and corridors. For this he was made the dear and pleasing chum of the highest police officers in the city.

The sight of this notorious gambler, sitting in a court between the chief and lieutenant of police, in intimate and confidential intercourse, having for their common cause the circulation of the libel against the Morning Press, Johnson sat side by side with Hurley and Eastman, and sometimes between them.

It was for this shameful service the prosecution held him in such loving and tender regard. For this he was accorded a seat of honor with the judge and his lieutenant.

For this he was admitted to their confidence. For this he was consulted in the side rooms and corridors. For this he was made the dear and pleasing chum of the highest police officers in the city.

The sight of this notorious gambler, sitting in a court between the chief and lieutenant of police, in intimate and confidential intercourse, having for their common cause the circulation of the libel against the Morning Press, Johnson sat side by side with Hurley and Eastman, and sometimes between them.

It was for this shameful service the prosecution held him in such loving and tender regard. For this he was accorded a seat of honor with the judge and his lieutenant.

For this he was admitted to their confidence. For this he was consulted in the side rooms and corridors. For this he was made the dear and pleasing chum of the highest police officers in the city.

The sight of this notorious gambler, sitting in a court between the chief and lieutenant of police, in intimate and confidential intercourse, having for their common cause the circulation of the libel against the Morning Press, Johnson sat side by side with Hurley and Eastman, and sometimes between them.

It was for this shameful service the prosecution held him in such loving and tender regard. For this he was accorded a seat of honor with the judge and his lieutenant.

For this he was admitted to their confidence. For this he was consulted in the side rooms and corridors. For this he was made the dear and pleasing chum of the highest police officers in the city.

The sight of this notorious gambler, sitting in a court between the chief and lieutenant of police, in intimate and confidential intercourse, having for their common cause the circulation of the libel against the Morning Press, Johnson sat side by side with Hurley and Eastman, and sometimes between them.

It was for this shameful service the prosecution held him in such loving and tender regard. For this he was accorded a seat of honor with the judge and his lieutenant.

For this he was admitted to their confidence. For this he was consulted in the side rooms and corridors. For this he was made the dear and pleasing chum of the highest police officers in the city.

The sight of this notorious gambler, sitting in a court between the chief and lieutenant of police, in intimate and confidential intercourse, having for their common cause the circulation of the libel against the Morning Press, Johnson sat side by side with Hurley and Eastman, and sometimes between them.

It was for this shameful service the prosecution held him in such loving and tender regard. For this he was accorded a seat of honor with the judge and his lieutenant.

For this he was admitted to their confidence. For this he was consulted in the side rooms and corridors. For this he was made the dear and pleasing chum of the highest police officers in the city.

The sight of this notorious gambler, sitting in a court between the chief and lieutenant of police, in intimate and confidential intercourse, having for their common cause the circulation of the libel against the Morning Press, Johnson sat side by side with Hurley and Eastman, and sometimes between them.

It was for this shameful service the prosecution held him in such loving and tender regard. For this he was accorded a seat of honor with the judge and his lieutenant.

For this he was admitted to their confidence. For this he was consulted in the side rooms and corridors. For this he was made the dear and pleasing chum of the highest police officers in the city.

The sight of this notorious gambler, sitting in a court between the chief and lieutenant of police, in intimate and confidential intercourse, having for their common cause the circulation of the libel against the Morning Press, Johnson sat side by side with Hurley and Eastman, and sometimes between them.

It was for this shameful service the prosecution held him in such loving and tender regard. For this he was accorded a seat of honor with the judge and his lieutenant.

For this he was admitted to their confidence. For this he was consulted in the side rooms and corridors. For this he was made the dear and pleasing chum of the highest police officers in the city.

The sight of this notorious gambler, sitting in a court between the chief and lieutenant of police, in intimate and confidential intercourse, having for their common cause the circulation of the libel against the Morning Press, Johnson sat side by side with Hurley and Eastman, and sometimes between them.

JUDGE FIELD'S RECORD.

Senator Power of Montana attacks Justice Field of the Supreme court for his long continued favor on the bench to railroads and their land grabbers.

This bold charge and doublets is made on a record that is indisputable. But is that record Field's alone? Where do the other justices of the court stand?

Senator Power will find that in attacking Field he is also striking at all the rest of the court who have a record. It is too true that the land grabbers have had their wicked way in congress, in the land office and in the courts for twenty five years, and now when all the good land is gone it is too late to be kicking up a bobby over it.

Mr. Power should have considered this matter years ago when the government branches was being prostituted to the favor of the monopolists by the party in control of all its branches, and with which Mr. Power faithfully and ardently acted.

The Free Press denies the Detroit News fake that Winsan's and Campan are out. This denial is probably correct because the News says Campan's cause is being handled by Winsan's attorney, who would take his advice as to appointment but consulted his former friends. It is well known in this section that appointments were taken over the advice of the "farmers" as Winsan's, Davis, Arthur Meigs, Joe Rosenhall and I. M. Weston. The real plot holding farmers of this section were not in it with the governor when paper was being labled out.

SECRETARY BLAINE has had another attack of indigestion, a fainting spell and is in bed. He is working hard but it is true, but so is Harrison and no one here of his fainting away and getting sick at the stomach from over eating or indigestion.

THE Considines have again cleared themselves from the tolls thrown around them by the Detroit police for several years by the aid of a jury. What a jury would not be imagined.

LIBEL LAW ABUSES. Lansing Republican: Under the head of "Libel law absurdities and monstrosities," the Sunday Free Press reviews the acts of the Detroit police in the libel case decided against that paper last Friday, and ably depicts the gross injustice to which newspapers are subjected under the absurd libel law which has disgraced Michigan's statute book for several years.

The main fact of the article—that the plaintiffs were arrested on suspicion of burglary—was proved, and consequently not libelous; but some of the minor details which were not proved, and which these were libelous because untrue; but there was no evidence of malice, except that which could not be claimed. This left for the jury the fact that the plaintiffs were arrested, and these, the Free Press alleges only, and is terminated by it without any basis whatsoever. The jury increased the damages, and the jury guessed what natural damage might have resulted from the arrest, and this a publication, modified by personal feeling, and embodied those guesses into a verdict.

The injustice which the present libel law of Michigan heaps upon the press is not merely that it is too strict, but times, but while the law has been extensively denounced as outrageous and absurd, no real earnest and united action has been had for repealing or amending it. It is not about time that the public opinion should be taken.

There are no politics in this matter. The present libel law of Michigan is a disgrace to the state, and it admits of such verdicts, which are a standing menace to the business of every publisher in the state. The Free Press justly says, "The worst thing about our present libel law is that it encourages impetuous speculators and unscrupulous sycophants to hound the newspapers of the country and take the dockets of the courts with practically baseless libel suits, or to threaten such for the sake of a few dollars."

It is within the power of the press of Michigan to infuse some elements of justice into this law. If it will unite in a demand for its repeal, and make necessary changes. Practical and prompt action on the part of the State Press Association will correct these wrongs within a twelvemonth, and at the same time dignity that body with something more than its reputation for its annual junket party, by proving its usefulness to the craft at large.

How a Husband Should Be Regarded. At a recent meeting, of Seneca, at which the subject of "Husband" was discussed, Mrs. Herrick attributed the failure of marital happiness to girls being taught to expect too much happiness from marriage, and that love is its only essential by romances, poetry, songs and tradition. But, while not belittling the chief part of the responsibility upon superior qualities; esteem for those attributes that would make the wife desire the husband as a friend if she could not have him for a husband; common sense, which teaches her that a faulty woman need not expect a perfect husband, and great patience—"that passion of noble souls"—are quite as essential elements in the domestic bliss.

She cautioned the wife against hollering at her husband, and against being a thorn in it. Men cannot understand intangible griefs and unrest. She also said that one of the first lessons a wife has to learn is that her husband has a right to his own individuality, and that, while she can inspire him to greater achievements in a way for which she has a bias, she cannot, as so many fondly dream, mold his character, and she would not respect him if she could.

She would be taught that marriage is not the gateway of heaven, and that even at this Eden the angels stand with the same wings as the mortals, and seek an earthly paradise. Women should know their lovers so well, that marriage can bring no great disappointments. Marriage is not a match made in heaven, but an earthly union founded on mutual respect, over which the love that made matrimony in a way for which she has a bias, she cannot, as so many fondly dream, mold his character, and she would not respect him if she could.

PIERRE RUAN, an aged banker of Paris, had a prophetic dream a few years ago which told him that he would live until the year 1909. He was sure of the belief that the dream was correct that he had a monument erected with his name, and the date of his death, and the marble carter had another Pierre Ruan inscription and date put on.—St. Louis Republic.

Married on the Threshold of His Home. Thomas Nettling and Mary Jones were married by Justice Blaine, who pronounced the ceremony while the train stood in the doorway of a prettily furnished cottage on Colfax street, which the groom had just completed for the woman of his choice.—San Diego Sun.

CURRENT STATE NEWS.

Mrs. Jasper Reid, who died at her home near Flat Rock Saturday, weighed about 100 lbs.

A. Crain has been appointed postmaster at Cedar Run, Boone county, since F. Jones, resigned.

The second trial of Frank Allen of Mason, charged with forgery, has ended in a disagreement of the jury.

Timothy Greeley, proprietor of the Little Giant Grill mill near Bronson, died of heart disease Sunday.

The new branch at Mt. Clemens will cost $10,000, and W. H. Meyers of Port Huron is to build it.

Cornelius Baldwin, a highly respected citizen of Cheboygan, Mich., committed suicide by hanging.

Wm. Coulter of Sault Ste. Marie, who confessed the murder of his father, was arrested tonight on a charge of perjury.

Rev. Thos. E. Barr of Racine, Wis., was called Monday night to the pastorate of the First Presbyterian church of Kalamazoo.

John E. Smith, postmaster at Leslie, Boone county, died of a grippe on Sunday at the age of 65. He had been sick but a week.

The house of John Heinenberg five miles from Potosi, was burned next Monday and the 9-months-old child of the owner was burned to a crisp.

Le grippe is raging so extensively at Cadillac that several business concerns have had to close temporarily, owing to the prostration of employes.

Reading's newest industry is a stock company with a paid in capital of $12,000,000, for the manufacture of robes and coats made from cattle hides.

George Elliott, a prominent and wealthy farmer of Ypsilanti township, died Monday afternoon, aged 93 years. He leaves a widow and two children.

Johnston & Bidley, grocers and meat dealers of Detroit, died Monday for the benefit of creditors. Assets, $5,000.

Dr. J. W. McCall, a veteran physician of Ypsilanti, aged 40 years, died Monday evening of consumption. He had been a resident there about three years.

Captain C. J. Ingersoll of Buchanan, died Monday afternoon, aged 92 years. He had been a resident there for several years and claimed to be the oldest in the state.

Seb Bidwell, aged 88 an old and respected resident and the first supervisor of Brighton township, is dead. He had a large number of relatives throughout the state.

George Ray, one of the old inhabitants of Lewin county, a resident of Glen Arbor since 1855, is dead. He had been postmaster since 1855 with the office of one year.

The steamer Fountain City has been leased to St. Joseph Harbor since Friday. Heavy explosions will be required to free her as she is piled fully ten feet thick around her.

Mr. Murayama of Fukuoka, Japan, returned from the United States to enter the college at Ann Arbor for a full course. He is the son of a wealthy and influential citizen of the Mikado's empire.

Bartholomew L. Rhoades, a prominent citizen of Hillsfield since 1835, died Monday night of a heart ailment. He was a member of Company K, Eleventh Michigan Volunteer Infantry during the war.

The stockholders of the People's Savings bank of North Lansing have determined to increase the capital of the bank to $150,000, and about March 15 to establish a main office in the central portion of the city.

Nathaniel Ostrander, sentenced from Bay county to Jackson in 1889 for burglary and who took French leave from the Michigan penitentiary on the morning of Nov. 25, 1889, has been captured at his home in Michigan.

Hon. William E. Hill, a Republican, was elected Monday night as mayor of Kalamazoo, to fill the unexpired term of Hon. Frederick Busk, deceased.

The members of the Grand Haven military company who decided that they would not pay their dues have been expelled from the ranks. The judge who charged them notified them that if they refused to pay their dues they may be dishonorably discharged.

Louis Wears, a Kalamazoo sneak thief, was locked up in jail last week for the first time in the Michigan penitentiary. Since then he has picked the pockets of every prisoner in the Michigan penitentiary.

All bills for the water works system of St. Joseph are completed. The capacity will be 3,000,000 gallons per foot, from an iron tank 100 feet high, into the bottom of Lake Michigan. The contractors guarantee the works to be completed within a twelvemonth.

At the meeting of the Saginaw common council Monday evening Mayor Woodcock solicited a motion in which he preferred charges against John C. Matthews, city clerk, who he charges with the neglect of his duties as an officer and unfaithful performance of the duties of his office.

Arlin Vereschure of Holland, a prominent stockholder in the West Michigan furniture factory, died Monday evening aged 20 years. He lost part of a finger in machinery a few weeks ago, which healed over quickly. Then his arm became paralyzed and he was unable to work the machinery for some time.

A Fireproof Solution for Dresses. A chemist of Vienna has succeeded in discovering a composition which will protect dresses from fire. The chemist, Lichtenstein gave this composition a first trial on the stage in his own parlour in the presence of a numerous company. The rise of the curtain discovered two life-sized dolls, dressed as ballet girls, and the fire was applied to them. One of the dolls was rapidly reduced to ashes, while the other, well saturated with the protective composition, escaped with a small hole in her dress.

He Dreamed Wrong. Pierre Ruan, an aged banker of Paris, had a prophetic dream a few years ago which told him that he would live until the year 1909. He was sure of the belief that the dream was correct that he had a monument erected with his name, and the date of his death, and the marble carter had another Pierre Ruan inscription and date put on.—St. Louis Republic.

Married on the Threshold of His Home. Thomas Nettling and Mary Jones were married by Justice Blaine, who pronounced the ceremony while the train stood in the doorway of a prettily furnished cottage on Colfax street, which the groom had just completed for the woman of his choice.—San Diego Sun.

ABOUT GOOD CIGARS.

YOU CAN READ A MAN FROM THE KIND OF CIGARS HE SMOKES.

Some Familiar Names of Cigars—How Men Act When They Choose and Light the Famous Wreath—Characteristics of Common Inevitable Smokers.

Do you smoke? If you do, why not, at leisure, have a little chat about cigars, cigarettes and smokers. But if you do not like you to praise the brand you are just now smoking. It is too dark; it smells of yesterday's damp atmosphere, its ashes are black as a forger's soul.

The treasures of Havana, formerly the exclusive enjoyment of the opulent, are within the reach of almost every one, and when crops are short in Cuba, Mexico, Virginia and the Carolinas supply the deficiency.

There are cigars of many different titles, most of them highly sounding, like the Spanish hidalgos by whom they were named. There are Cayman, Pecosados, Trabucos, Ladrans, Regueros, Princesas Caballeros, Crevas, Princes de Galles, Flor Finos, Exporteros, Comandantes, Capitanes, Molinas, Regalinas, Señoras, Regalinas de la Reina, Jersey Lind, Adolina Patti, Divina Sarah, Imperial, Impugnables, Gombahs, Bolivar, Libertadores, Compulsiadores, etc.

It is for the "connoisseurs" to exercise their preferences and to contend for the very best. There are degrees in tobacco as in wine, and the Havana brand has its pedigree as has Chateau Yquem and Chateau Margot.

The "Figaro" or the "Henry Clay" has each its peculiar aroma. In the kingdom of tobacco as in the empire of love, among cigars as among women, there is always the eternal and inevitable rivalry between the blond and the brunette, the dark and the light, the strong and the mild; but in the smoking world, as elsewhere, if the brunettes are generally strong the blonds are not always mild.

How some men smoke. A true smoker must never select a moist cigar, but at the same time he must not take a too dry one. As the Latin philosopher said, "in medio tutissimus ibis."

The supreme felicity of the smoker depends on the manner in which he lights his cigar. To verify its peculiar aroma one has first to draw the smoke through the mouth, and then to swallow it, and finally to exhale it, and finally to exhale it, and finally to exhale it.

The one who places his cigar in an amber holder is recherche in his tastes and stylish in his habits. The man who holds it with a silver holder is a dandy. The man fond of light shaded cigars is fond of the ballet, light performances, French music, comic operas and shepherdesses in water gowns. He is also probably fond of fishing and boating, is generally romantic and is considered as a passionate waterer.

THE LIGHT AND DARK SMOKERS. The one who prefers dark shaded cigars may be supposed a daring and fortunate gambler, but he is not a successful lover, rather fond of Leopold Robert and Regnant's vital pictures and a little music.

The man who buys his cigars without examination and only because they are in his packages with ribbon performed by the Cuban peddler's wife is of confiding disposition, presumably an obedient husband and a credulous stockholder. The one who smokes his cigar almost to the end is by all means a persevering character, a faithful friend and a constant lover, the one who throws it away when only half smoked is base.

The man who allows it to extinguish itself often and lights it again in an abject manner is thoughtless but indulgent, good fellow, inclined to tolerance, taking men for what they are, woman for what they are not, taking things as they come, he lets the stream of life flow gently by him.

The

THE PEOPLES COLUMN.

NAMES OF STATES.

A Reporter Taken In.
BUTCHER MONROE.
Paying attention to the column article in the daily Democrat where Mr. Burleigh of Hall street and Madison avenue complains because he could not bluff Mr. Archer into repaying him the amount...

It Wanted a Dollar.
Tax Collector Stewart comes in for his share of amusing incidents.
The other day a fat, little, underdressed, gray headed man waddled into the apartment for taxpayers.

A TYPE OF HUSBAND.

The Self Importance of a Typical Young Married Man Who Has for a Wife a Sensible Woman Who Cannot Be Suppressed in Her Efforts to Be Happy.
"Judy take her."
"Judy?"
"Yes, with all my heart; watch them."

AMUSEMENTS.

POWERS' GRAND OPERA HOUSE.
Grand Rapids & Indiana.
Thursday, Jan. 21.
CONRIED'S COMIC OPERA COMPANY.
HEINRICH CONRIED, Director.
In Milwaukee's Comedy Opera.
Poor Jonathan.
Sung for 20 Nights at the New York Casino.
OUR OWN ORCHESTRA.
PRICES: Sec. 100, 75c, 50c and 25c. Sale every Tuesday.

OFFICIAL RAILROAD TIME CARDS.

Grand Rapids & Indiana.
Grand Rapids to Detroit, 100 miles.
Detroit to Grand Rapids, 100 miles.
Chicago & West Michigan Ry.
Grand Rapids to Chicago, 110 miles.
Chicago to Grand Rapids, 110 miles.

THE DIFFERENT STATES OF THE UNION WERE NAMED.

Many of the Appellations Are of English Origin—Many Others Are Derived from Old Indian Words—Some Peculiar Meanings in Familiar Terms.
Maine takes its name from the province of Maine, in France, and was so called as a compliment to the queen of Charles I, Henrietta, who was its owner.
New Hampshire takes its name from the English town, Exeter. New Hampshire was originally called Lancaster.

A TYPE OF HUSBAND.

The Self Importance of a Typical Young Married Man Who Has for a Wife a Sensible Woman Who Cannot Be Suppressed in Her Efforts to Be Happy.
"Judy take her."
"Judy?"
"Yes, with all my heart; watch them."

AMUSEMENTS.

POWERS' GRAND OPERA HOUSE.
Grand Rapids & Indiana.
Thursday, Jan. 21.
CONRIED'S COMIC OPERA COMPANY.
HEINRICH CONRIED, Director.
In Milwaukee's Comedy Opera.
Poor Jonathan.
Sung for 20 Nights at the New York Casino.
OUR OWN ORCHESTRA.
PRICES: Sec. 100, 75c, 50c and 25c. Sale every Tuesday.

OFFICIAL RAILROAD TIME CARDS.

Grand Rapids & Indiana.
Grand Rapids to Detroit, 100 miles.
Detroit to Grand Rapids, 100 miles.
Chicago & West Michigan Ry.
Grand Rapids to Chicago, 110 miles.
Chicago to Grand Rapids, 110 miles.

THE DIFFERENT STATES OF THE UNION WERE NAMED.

A TYPE OF HUSBAND.

AMUSEMENTS.

OFFICIAL RAILROAD TIME CARDS.

THE DIFFERENT STATES OF THE UNION WERE NAMED.

A TYPE OF HUSBAND.

AMUSEMENTS.

OFFICIAL RAILROAD TIME CARDS.

