

WARRANTS

Gresham Peremptorily Withdrew His Name. The Proceedings of the People's Party Convention at Omaha.

OMAHA, July 4.—Notwithstanding the enthusiasm of the third party men and the fact a large portion of the delegates are farmers, accustomed to early rising, the hour of 8 o'clock proved too late before a quorum could be secured.

The report of the committee on organization was read and adopted, Henry Loucks of South Dakota being named permanent chairman, J. W. Hayes of New Jersey secretary. Mr. Loucks made a strong speech upon taking the chair and was heartily applauded.

The committee on rules also reported. One rule provided that after the first and second choice and the two having a majority should be the only ones voted for on future ballots.

After recess a resolution was presented for a committee on platform with the Union Pacific relative to return rates of transportation. Cannon of California created a sensation by declaring that his delegation after a request for the same rates granted on condition that it had been rejected and it did not want the convention to humiliate itself by asking favors, and said they soon would vote against the Pacific line.

This declaration set the convention wild. When order was restored the secretary withdrew and another one adopted to have the committee lay the matter before the later convention.

A roll call of states was had for the appointment of a national committee. From each state and an adjournment taken for dinner.

It was after 3 o'clock when the convention resumed and the delegates spent half hour in singing campaign songs while waiting for the secretary to bring the regular order was assumed and a call for the report of the committee on platform was made.

The chairman of the committee said they were not ready to give a time when they would be ready to wait for some time, which was used in singing, Brown of Massachusetts and a delegate from Kansas sprang the St. Louis platform on the convention. Brown, in a violent speech attacked the platform and urged to that platform anyway, and it was adopted the committee could have no objection from Oklahoma declared that the committee had four days and a convention should not wait any longer.

It looked very much as if the convention were to take into their own hands and adopt a platform, when the resolutions committee appeared and the platform was read. There was great applause when the chairman was speaking and a shout and a scene of wild enthusiasm followed, lasting for some time. The delegates cheered and yelled like Indians, bands of music were playing.

Before the hurrah over the platform subsided Taubencron, frankly, waded into the platform and with excitement, forced his way to the platform. This a telegram from around Taubencron not only mounted the platform but the speaker's desk and he made a speech of some length. He finally came down to the platform as the chairman got up and saying at Minneapolis and Chicago they cleared for me. He then permitted another to speak and a woman followed. All this time Taubencron was waving his telegram. When his turn came he said he had a message from H. H. H. saying: "I have just seen Gresham. If unassuming will not do."

This led to another outburst, but it was noticeable that it was far from as vigorous as the applause at the platform. Brown of Massachusetts then read a resolution of the platform. It was a candidate, but would be by the result of a vote.

"This is better," said Brown, "than the unassuming demand of Gresham." Continuing he said "I have not stamped this convention by the aid of the galleries. There were hisses and a confusion."

Mrs. Leese of Kansas rushed to the front of the platform waving a telegram and saying she had a telegram from around Taubencron not only mounted the platform but the speaker's desk and he made a speech of some length. He finally came down to the platform as the chairman got up and saying at Minneapolis and Chicago they cleared for me. He then permitted another to speak and a woman followed. NORTH PARK FLYERS

The July Trotting Meeting Attractively Opened.

Two Races Decided and One Postponed—Famous Horses There.

The July meeting of the Grand Rapids Horsemen's association opened at noon stock park yesterday with good prospects for success. The attendance was not so large as anticipated, but with the counter attractions and the fact that thousands of people were out of the city taken into consideration it was all that could have been expected.

The day was the most perfect of the season and the track was in fair condition on the surface though soggy underneath. The crowd was not enthusiastic about the horses.

The racing was fair and square, there being no indication of crooked work except in the second heat of the slow race, and prompt action on the part of the judges convinced the spectators that a moment and they would be over.

President Leathers' wonderful colts, Monbars, was exhibited and passed to Mr. Starr speeded him over the home stretch.

The fastest harness race in the world, was loudly applauded as the team led him in from the grand stand.

President Leathers acts as starting judge and the Alderman Ration and Gen. W. H. Hawk.

The first race was a three-quarter mile race, the first named and got away in the first heat on the second trial, the pole horse and Pedro having the best of it.

On the first turn Black Diamond went to the front and was followed by Pedro in front and Black Diamond in the rear.

They entered the home stretch, being closely crowded by Steve Whipple. Black Diamond made a slipper two as he passed the distance flag, but came down quickly at the end of the race.

The second race, Elko third, Pedro in front and Black Diamond in the rear. Time, 2:32.

The third race was a pretty struggle between Pedro and Elko. Pedro won the three-quarter mile race.

The fourth race was the second over a mile, Whipple being the pole horse and Pedro in front.

FORMALLY DEDICATED

Kent County Possesses Its New Jail.

The Ceremonies and the Able Address by R. W. Butterfield.

The new court house was yesterday dedicated with all the pomp and circumstance to which the supervisors have looked forward with so much impatience, and today for the first time in forty years Kent county has an official home adequate to its needs and representative of its worth and character.

Preparations for the event had been making for several days, and the building, swept and garnished for the occasion from garret to basement, presented a beautiful appearance.

The occasion was a gala day, and was gaily dressed with bunting and flags. A life-size portrait of George Washington was placed over the crest-street entrance and patriotic emblems, entwined with red, white and blue, were placed on every prominent projection.

The interior was also splendidly draped with bunting and palms and blooming plants adorned the tables and mantels.

At 2 o'clock a procession was formed at the door and the cheerless building which was so long the county headquarters, and headed by a band and the sheriff, it filed down Lyon street, up Canal and Monroe to Ottawa street, and there were the supervisors, the county officials, members of the committee, the mayor of the city and many old-time and distinguished residents.

A large crowd gathered at the court house and the building was thronged by the handsome women. The exercises were held in the large jury court room which was filled to overflowing.

They opened with music by the Schuchert band, well drilled organization of male voices, and with an appropriate prayer by Rev. J. H. Maynard of Sparta.

Mr. Osgood, the architect, made a few remarks relative to the plans and construction of the building.

The Romanesque style, midway between the pointed Gothic and arched Greek styles, and well calculated for strength. The dome is 36 feet square, 200 ft. above street level, and weighs 3,000 tons.

The walls are of brick, and the floors are laid on steel girders filled in with cement, the roof of the same material, thus making a fire proof structure.

The building stands 157 feet on the ground, and is surrounded by a wall of the same material, and is surrounded by a wall of the same material.

A DARING RESCUE.

At 10:30 last night a Patrick Meahan, Alex McDonald and William Jay, printers, were passing the lumber piles south of Comstock's block on Canal street, when they discovered a man struggling in 16 feet of water.

His pale face was upturned to the moonlight for a moment and they disappeared.

William Jay, who is better known among the printers as "Shorty," did not hesitate a minute, and although he has a crippled hand he dove headfirst into the circulating water.

After a few moments he marked the man's head, and he swam to the surface bearing the inanimate burden.

With the assistance of Meahan and McDonald he reached the boom, and after a few moments the fellow was brought to consciousness.

After he refused to give his name, but said that he had been drinking. After he had recovered sufficiently to walk, he thanked his rescuers in a heartfelt manner.

The brave act of "Shorty" Jay can not be too highly commended, as it was a most daring and heroic deed.

The man who was rescued, was a man of about 40 years of age, and was dressed in a suit of dark clothing.

He was found floating in the water, and was apparently unconscious.

He was rescued by the three men, and was brought to the shore.

TOWN SITE WAD.

The Way Oklahoma People Head Off Bral Town Companies.

EL RENO, O. T., July 4.—The scene of the town site was managed by the town site company, and the new town on the Rock Island, south of here.

The town was laid out, sold under a quit claim deed, and a railroad switch built, but when the property had all been disposed of a new site was proposed.

CAMPBELL'S QUANDARY

Must Give Up His Client or the Chairmanship.

One Represents Twenty-five Thousand a Year, the Other Glory.

New York, July 4.—A Washington special says: Will Mr. W. J. Campbell of Illinois accept the chairmanship of the Republican national committee and throw to the winds his profitable connection with Philip D. Armour and his dressed beef industries?

It is understood that this is the ultimatum which stares the gentleman from the Prairie state in the face.

"It may be stated with an almost absolute certainty that the great Chicago packer has told his lawyer that he would choose between two things—if he would continue as the attorney for Mr. Armour he must not accept the chairmanship of the Republican committee."

"President Harrison is understood to be considerably worked up over the matter and Mr. Campbell's delay in stating whether or not he will accept has caused the chief executive no end of anxiety."

"John R. Tanner has been in Washington within the last twenty-four hours. It is understood that he was summoned to the national capital by the president for the purpose of talking over the situation in Illinois. It is an open secret that Mr. Campbell's delay was largely due to a desire to head up any factional differences within the party in Illinois."

Mr. Campbell is understood to have conferred with President Harrison, who expressed considerable satisfaction over the outlook. The assistant treasurer from Chicago will return to his home shortly, and it is understood that he will be the bearer of messages clearly indicating the president's wishes.

J. S. Clarkson will not have the chairmanship of the executive committee of the national Republican committee. Mr. Clarkson is at the Plaza hotel, where he arrived this morning.

"I shall not be chairman of the executive committee," said he. "The statement has been repeated again and again from Washington, but it is not true."

"That will you not have charge of the New York headquarters?"

"No, I will not be in charge of anything. I shall be a member of the executive committee in Illinois only."

"Who will the other members be?"

"I do not know who all of them will be. Mr. Campbell will announce them in a day or two, and he will be chairman of both committees."

Mr. Campbell's friends know of his business relations with the Armours and he is not a lawyer in the country who would not be glad to be the attorney for the Armours at $25,000 a year. Ifancy refuse the position—nor even the money—Mr. Campbell is an expert politician. He has had fifteen years at it, and these attacks will only try his pluck a little."

HIS DEATH FORETOLD.

Story That His Death Seemingly Appeared at Hand and Forewarned Fr. Mulligan.

Princeton, N. J., June 28.—There was a story told on Mount Troy today about Father Mulligan which is believed by many.

The Monday morning before he died, Father Mulligan celebrated mass in the church of the Most Holy Name at daybreak. While in the attitude of prayer the sanctuary was suddenly lit up with dazzling brilliancy and the priest-physician became conscious of the presence of a heavenly visitor. Looking up he beheld a form clothed in snowy white.

The apparition made known its identity by declaring itself to be St. Anthony, his patron saint. The saint then invoked the blessing of heaven on the kneeling priest and told him to prepare for death as his hours were numbered and his time on earth was short.

The priest concluded the mass, went home and partook of a light repast. Later in the day he preached and blessed the audience for the last time, though little did they then think that it was to be the last. Father Mulligan requested his doors be closed and that he be shut out from the world forever. Up to this time he said nothing about his vision, though it was noticed by those who associated with him that he was gradually growing weaker.

Tuesday afternoon he requested that the last rites of the church be administered to him and that he be left alone. This he did. He was gradually growing weaker.

The continuation of the Giant Clothing company's morning slaughter sale of the Sherman clothing store, 127 Canal street, will prove of great advantage to economical buyers.

The assistant treasurer from Chicago will return to his home shortly, and it is understood that he will be the bearer of messages clearly indicating the president's wishes.

J. S. Clarkson will not have the chairmanship of the executive committee of the national Republican committee. Mr. Clarkson is at the Plaza hotel, where he arrived this morning.

"I shall not be chairman of the executive committee," said he. "The statement has been repeated again and again from Washington, but it is not true."

"That will you not have charge of the New York headquarters?"

"No, I will not be in charge of anything. I shall be a member of the executive committee in Illinois only."

"Who will the other members be?"

"I do not know who all of them will be. Mr. Campbell will announce them in a day or two, and he will be chairman of both committees."

Mr. Campbell's friends know of his business relations with the Armours and he is not a lawyer in the country who would not be glad to be the attorney for the Armours at $25,000 a year. Ifancy refuse the position—nor even the money—Mr. Campbell is an expert politician. He has had fifteen years at it, and these attacks will only try his pluck a little."

HIS DEATH FORETOLD.

Story That His Death Seemingly Appeared at Hand and Forewarned Fr. Mulligan.

Princeton, N. J., June 28.—There was a story told on Mount Troy today about Father Mulligan which is believed by many.

The Monday morning before he died, Father Mulligan celebrated mass in the church of the Most Holy Name at daybreak. While in the attitude of prayer the sanctuary was suddenly lit up with dazzling brilliancy and the priest-physician became conscious of the presence of a heavenly visitor. Looking up he beheld a form clothed in snowy white.

The apparition made known its identity by declaring itself to be St. Anthony, his patron saint. The saint then invoked the blessing of heaven on the kneeling priest and told him to prepare for death as his hours were numbered and his time on earth was short.

The priest concluded the mass, went home and partook of a light repast. Later in the day he preached and blessed the audience for the last time, though little did they then think that it was to be the last. Father Mulligan requested his doors be closed and that he be shut out from the world forever. Up to this time he said nothing about his vision, though it was noticed by those who associated with him that he was gradually growing weaker.

Tuesday afternoon he requested that the last rites of the church be administered to him and that he be left alone. This he did. He was gradually growing weaker.

The continuation of the Giant Clothing company's morning slaughter sale of the Sherman clothing store, 127 Canal street, will prove of great advantage to economical buyers.
