Repository:	Grand Rapids History Center
Source - dnr:	Tweddale, Nancy Mulnix
Title:	Nancy Mulnix Tweddale papers
ID:	Collection 001
Date [inclusive]:	1966-2004
Physical Description:	14 Linear Feet Over 20 boxes plus flat files
Language of the Material:	English .
Abstract:	The Nancy Mulnix Tweddale papers document Mulnix's leading role in Grand Rapids' acquisition of Alexander Calder's monumental stabile, La Grande Vitesse, 1967-1969. The collection also includes information on Calder's 1974 Calder on the Roof project, his two Flying Colors airplanes for Braniff and the annual Grand Rapids all volunteer Festival of the Arts, which continues to be held with La Grande Vitesse as its focus. Mulnix's 2002 additions to the collection document some of her other art advocacy projects, such as the 25th Anniversary celebration of La Grande Vitesse; information on the Calder stabile Tripes; an exhibit of Calder work at Grand Valley State University; the Citizens' Stamp Advisory Committee for the Calder commemorative stamps and the continuing use of the Calder graphic as a visual symbol for the City of Grand Rapids.

Biographical / Historical

Nancy Mulnix, born November 26, 1939 in Flint, Michigan, is the daughter of Robert G. Middlesworth, a General Motors executive, and his wife, Margaret. The family moved successively to Birmingham, Michigan, then Kansas City, Missouri, and then East Grand Rapids, Michigan. Nancy graduated from East Grand Rapids High School in 1957. She attended Drake University, Michigan State University and Aquinas College, from which she received her B.A. in Philosophy in 1978. In 1980 she received an M.A. degree in psychological counseling from the University of Notre Dame. In 1995, she received a Bachelors of Science in Nursing (Psychiatric) from Grand Valley State University.

Nancy Middlesworth married LeVant Mulnix III in 1959. The Mulnix family owned the Carpenter Paper Company in Grand Rapids, in which Lee Mulnix took an active role. The couple had four children: Robert, Kathryn, Michael, and later Susan, who is Korean by birth. The couple was divorced in 1977. In 1980 Nancy Mulnix moved to Chicago where she worked as a medical psychologist at the University of Illinois Medical Center's Center for Craniofacial Anomalies. In 1982 she moved to Lantana, Florida to work as a counselor and bereavement coordinator at Hospice of Palm Beach County.

During her years in Grand Rapids, Nancy Mulnix has been involved in many organizations related to the arts. She was chairman of the Grand Valley State Colleges Foundation; chairman of several programs included in the Grand Rapids Arts Festivals; a member of the Grand Rapids Art Museum Education Committee; and served on the Michigan Council for the Arts from 1971 to 1975. She performed in "Tarradiddle Tales" and Tarradiddle Travels," Grand Rapids Civic Theater productions of children's plays. She also acted in the Civic Theatre's productions of "Death of a Salesman," "A Midsummer's Night Dream," and "Inspecting Carol." A playbill autographed by her friend and author, Arthur Miller, is included in this collection.

Nancy Mulnix is perhaps best known for her leadership in the City of Grand Rapids acquisition of the Alexander Calder sculpture La Grande Vitesse, and Calder's subsequent work Calder on the Roof. The bulk of this archival collection documents her initiation and participation in the Vandenberg Center Sculpture Project. Calder's La Grande Vitesse is the first sculpture in the United States to be supported with public funds for the arts, under the National Endowment for the Arts.

Nancy's work on the project began in 1967 with a visit from Henry Geldzehler, then Associate Curator of American Painting and Sculpture at the Metropolitan Museum of Art. Geldzehler delivered a lecture in Grand Rapids, Apr. 7, 1967 to the women's group of the Grand Rapids Art Museum, when Mulnix was serving as Vice President. Mulnix gave Geldzahler a tour, including a section of downtown Grand Rapids, Michigan, razed for urban renewal, where construction of the Vandenberg Center multi-building complex was about to begin. Geldzehler suggested the possibility of a work of public art for the space. Mulnix followed up on this idea on April 10, 1967, when she hand wrote a letter to Congressman Gerald R. Ford, of Grand Rapids, asking for his assistance in obtaining the grant funding. Ford pursued the funding on behalf of Grand Rapids, though he had been politically against the formation and funding of the National Endowment for the Arts. Mulnix sought the expertise and support of Judge Stuart Hoffius, and Grand Rapids Mayor Christian Sonneveld to initiate the project. The architectural firm of Skidmore Owings and Merrill was quickly involved in the planning, bringing to the project William Hartmann, the SOM partner who had recently brought the Picasso sculpture to Chicago. Leading citizens were appointed by the Mayor to the Vandenberg Center Sculpture Committee, including Peter Wege as Co-Chair with Mulnix. A separate group of six local and national art experts was formed to decide upon the artist to create the sculpture for the plaza. Alexander Calder (1898-1976), America's preeminent sculptor, was selected. Mulnix met Alexander Calder for the first time at Dec. 1967 at Perls Gallery in New York City. They became close friends during the project, and continued visits and correspondence until Calder's death in 1976.

In the Fall of 2005, Nancy Middlesworth Mulnix married R. Bruce Tweddale.

Scope and Contents

---

This collection initially focused almost exclusively on the Vandenberg Center Sculpture Project, which resulted in the acquisition of Alexander Calder's monumental stabile La Grande Vitesse. Additional materials, about Nancy Mulnix continuing and broader activities in support of the arts, have been added to the collection, broadening the scope of the collection.

Calder's La Grande Vitesse continues to be the largest portion and the hallmark of the collection, and perhaps Mulnix's greatest art experience. The Vandenberg Center project materials detail how politicians, artists, business leaders and private citizens joined to acquire La Grande Vitesse during an age of urban renewal and city reidentification in Grand Rapids. This was also a time of national political upheaval in the late 1960's, which included civil rights at the forefront and the assassinations of important political leaders in the U.S. These national issues struggled against the Calder project for recognition and use of resources. However, the ideals of both movements seemed to come together in the human rights ideals of the Calders (Alexander, or Sandy, & Louisa), as well as the ideals of the use of the Vandenberg Center plaza, now called Calder Plaza, as a meeting place for all peoples and all groups, with La Grande Vitesse as the focal point. It was also an era of global reidentification, as the first man was landed on the Moon in the month following the dedication of the sculpture.

Mulnix served as co-chairman of the Vandenberg Center Sculpture Committee along with Grand Rapids leader Peter Wege. The collection includes her correspondence as part of the Committee. Prominent correspondents in the collection include: Alexander Calder, artist Adolph Gottlieb, Aaron Copland who wrote original music for the Dedication of the sculpture, and Gerald Ford, who as President used "La Grande Vitesse," as part of his symbolic association with his home city of Grand Rapids.

The collection also includes records of the art Selection Committee / Commissioning Committee, speeches, Calder sketches, clippings, memorabilia, ephemera, photographs, slides, prints, posters, audio tapes, musical scores and engineering plans. A large portion of the collection is books and periodicals, either on Calder and his art, or on public art and art projects. These materials serve as an invaluable support for understanding the sculpture, as well as it's creator and it's place in U.S. national history, as the first public sculpture supported with federal funds.

The collection also includes material on Calder's other works and exhibits. The personal friendship that existed between Mulnix and Calder provides an interesting dimension to the collection, as well as her other friendships with such notables as Inge Morath Miller and her husband Arthur Miller, Eppie Lederer (Ann Landers), Aaron Copland who knew Calder as a youth in Pennsylvania, Calder's official biographer Jean Lipman, Calder friend Robert Osborn, and Calder's sister Margaret Calder Hayes. Also included are brief notes from Jane Alexander, actress and chairman of the NEA in 1994, from artist Robert Motherwell, from Kansas Senator Nancy Landen Kassebaum, from Chief Justice William Renquist and Justice John Paul Stevens of the U.S. Supreme Court, and from Michigan Governor William Milliken, plus a copy of a telegram from President Richard Nixon with congratulations on the dedication of the sculpture.

Series I. Correspondence

Scope and Contents

Mulnix correspondence is diverse, including a large portion related to the duties of the original Vandenberg Center Project, including those from several notables that are protected in Security. There are later letters, as well, usually of support for a Calder related anniversary or honors project.

Subseries A. General Correspondence, 1960-1970's

Scope and Contents

Consists primarily of Vandenberg Center Sculpture Project related correspondence, but also other general correspondence. Consists of letters to and from various people and organizations involved in the acquisition of La Grande Vitesse, including: members of the National Foundation for the Arts; the City of Grand Rapids; the Perls Galleries of New York, and government officials. Also included is correspondence on the dedication of other Calder works such as: "Calder on the Rooftop" and Calder's Bicentennial airplane painting project "Flying Colors."

Correspondence related to specific later projects, such as the 25th Anniversary Celebration, or the Calder Commemorative Stamp Project, as listed in the later series for those projects. Other general correspondence from the time periods of those projects is included in this section.

Subseries B. Gerald & Betty Ford Correspondence.

Box 1 Folder 7

Scope and Contents

Includes eighteen letters from Gerald Ford and one from Betty Ford. The letters reveal Ford's role in obtaining funds from the National Endowment for the Arts for a public sculpture in Grand Rapids. A few letters detail Mulnix's efforts to have Calder considered for a Presidential Medal of Freedom, and Ford's support for the Grand Rapids Civic Theater.

Other copies of letters from Ford are included in the 25th Anniversary series.

Subseries C. Calder Correspondence. (originals in security)

Box 1

Scope and Contents

Consists of twenty-seven letters and twenty-six postcards from Calder to Mulnix. One letter and one postcard are facsimiles, addressed to Lee Mulnix. The correspondence, mostly written in Sache, France, comments on Calder's progress on "La Grande Vitesse" and other commissions. The stamps were removed from the postcards by the donor, and most were given to a family member. There are some stamps in Security with the letters, but these may not be from the postcards.

Title/Description	Instances
Nancy Mulnix to Alexander Calder and Louisa Calder, and to Calder's sister Peggy Hayes, 1967-1984. 2005.013c	Box 1	Folder 6.5

Scope and Contents

This subseries consists of photocopies of 10 letters (9 letters, 1 postcard) written by Nancy Mulnix over the years to Alexander Calder or to his sister Peggy Calder Hayes. Mrs. Hayes is identified primarily in this collection as Margaret Calder Hayes, though she was called Peggy by her family, and by Mulnix. These copies were obtained by Mulnix from the Calder Foundation in September 2005. The transmittal letter is dated Sept. 7, 2005. Some are annotated by her as to date. It is likely that other letters were written by Mulnix to Calder, given the number of responses which she saved from him. The location of Mulnix's other letters to Calder, if they still exist, is unknown.

Subseries D. Aaron Copland correspondence (originals in security), 1969-1976

Box 1

Folder 8

Scope and Contents

Consists of eight letters from Copland relating to the "Inaugural Fanfare" that Copland composed for the dedication of "La Grande Vitesse". All are originals.

Subseries E. Eppie Lederer (Ann Landers), 1975-1979

Box 1.5

Folder 9

Scope and Contents

Includes seventeen letters from Eppie Lederer, one of which is a facsimile. The letters concern Lederer's support for Mulnix's stand on the Michigan Council for the Arts, and the health of a mutual friend, Wilbur Munnecke.

Subseries F. Michigan Council for the Arts Correspondence

Box 1.5

Folder 10

Scope and Contents

Details Mulnix's controversial tenure on the Council during which she advocated a more equitable distribution of arts funding throughout the entire state of Michigan. The majority on the Council supported a few, well-financed projects rather than many, less financed projects. On May 10, 1974, the Council censored Mulnix for her vocal opposition and as a result Governor William Milliken did not reappoint Mulnix to another term on the Council.

Subseries G. Robert Osborn, and including Arthur Miller*Scope and Contents

Robert Osborn, a cartoonist, was a friend of Calder's from Connecticut.

Series IV. Graphics

Subseries A. Calder Sketches [Originals in Security]

Scope and Contents

Included here are three original graphic items created by Alexander Calder, all housed in Security. All are drawn on reused paper, taken from a printed source. Foremost is the sketch of Nancy Mulnix signed "Calder;" Calder drew this on what appears to be part of a Perls Gallery catalog. A line profile of Nancy Mulnix is drawn over the written text of a tear sheet from an unidentified source. The final unique sketch is Calder writing "Hello GR Rapids," as if he was speaking this from his mouth, on his own image taken, apparently, from a Perls Gallery catalog.

The clippings series is primarily newspaper articles. A few magazine tear sheets are included. However, additional articles from periodicals can be found listed in the expanded publications series. The clippings related to events surrounding the acquisition and dedication of "La Grande Vitesse", but also include many aspects of public art and freedom of speech, use of the Calder in later years both graphically in publications and as a meeting place, and information on Alexander Calder, Nancy Mulnix or others connected with the sculpture and it's celebrations.

Most of the clippings are from The Grand Rapids Press, but also contains clippings from: The Detroit Free Press, The New York Times, and the Chicago Sun Times. Time, Newsweek, The Grand Rapids Interpreter, The Chicago Tribune, The Saturday Review, Art in America and the Smithsonian clippings, along with others of this ilk, are now found in the Publications Series.

Series VIII. Publications

Scope and Contents

Thanks to the variety of reference materials given by Nancy Mulnix, particularly as part of her 2002 gift, the Publications Series and the Clippings Series have both been expanded and redefined.

Publications include first books about Alexander Calder and his work. Following this are books about sculpture in general or other sculptors, art funding, and theater.

Next is a section for Exhibit Catalogs, most of which contain Calder's work, but not exclusively.

The bulk of the publications are periodicals and periodical articles, which are arranged alphabetically by the name of the periodical. A few periodical clippings, mostly of one page, are found within the Clipping Series.

The publications are housed in several boxes throughout the collection. Those inscribed by Alexander Calder are housed in Security, available for use with the permission of the Archivist or Department Head.

Books on Calder or with prominent "La Grande Vitesse" image, with a few miscellaneous additional titles.

Series IX. Photographs

Scope and Contents

The Photographs Series includes images of Calder's arrival in Grand Rapids, the dedication ceremonies, and other views from his visit to Grand Rapids along with other places in the U.S., during the original Vandenberg Center Sculpture Project time period of June 1969. Other views of Calder from other periods include those related to his Perls Gallery visit in 1967, visits to his studio in Saché, France in Spring 1969 [slides or prints from slides], his 1975 visit during the Calder-on-the-Roof project, and his work on the Braniff "Flying Colors" centennial airplane. Some images of Calder from or for printed sources are found in the collection, although documentation of the copyright and related sources is not always known.

Two interesting series of photos document the physical construction of the stabile La Grande Vitesse in France, and its subsequent erection and dedication in Grand Rapids, during 1969, as the culmination of the Vanderberg Center Sculpture Project.

Other photos in the collection document the Festival events at the Calder Plaza, La Grande Vitesse anniversary events, and other projects for the arts in which Mulnix has been involved.

Also included are color photos of a Calder stabile in Nancy, France, fund raisers with a Monopoly game theme, and Nancy Mulnix acting in Civic Theater productions.

Prints from some slides in Series X., as well as Fuji Pictography prints of some of the competition photos in Series XV., continue to be added to the collection, including those added during the preparation of the 2004 "La Grande Vitesse : Celebrating 35 Years on the Plaza" Exhibit. See also the separate holdings for that exhibit, for laser copies of select materials from the Mulnix Collection and other GRPL archival collections related to the original Calder project, used in that June to Dec. 2004 exhibit.
