Title:	Robinson Photographic Studio Collection
ID:	Collection 125
Date [inclusive]:	circa 1900-1988
Date [bulk]:	1935-1975
Physical Description:	641.1 Linear Feet
Language of the Material:	English
Abstract:	The Robinson Studio Collection is the largest archival collection held by the Grand Rapids History & Special Collections. Robinson's high quality black & white images depict the cultural, educational, social, economic, sports, and geographical development of the Grand Rapids, Michigan area. National figures include those who had roots in Grand Rapids, such as earlier views of President Jerry Ford, or who visited Grand Rapids, such as John F. Kennedy & Richard Nixon, or Frank Lloyd Wright with his wife, Olgivanna at his Meyer May House. The collection is organized in several series. Upon acquisition in the early 1990's, it was believed to contain approximately 950,000 negatives, mostly 4x5, taken by the Studio under successive owners. The date range begins around 1935, with some series continuing through 1989, though the bulk of the collection appears to be from the 1930s to the early 1970s. Some 4,000 positive images exist, and photographic prints from the negatives continue to be added by the Department, to facilitate patron use. Additionally, other photographic prints from the Robinson Studio exist in other archival collections in the Department, acquired through separate accessions, and maintained with their originating collections. The Robinson Collection series have different levels of access and processing. See the series statements in the finding aid for fuller information. The sets in the Commercial Series, for example, are currently accessible alphabetically under the name of the firm or individual hiring the photos. A supplemental index by street name also includes some Commercial series images. Many unique images exist within the Commercial sets, which will be more fully described in the future. Some images from the Commercial series are found on the Library's website. Others may be found when viewing a publication where the images were used, as these are known, such as the "Western Michigan Catholic" newspaper, or the "Rapid Wheeler". A database for other series in the Collection is available on the Library's website. This database contains set level records for the H,R,E,O,CH series (Herald, Reference "E", "O", and Grand Rapids Chicks), with data from the mid 1930's to the 1960's). This database also acts indirectly as an index to some "Grand Rapids Herald" newspaper articles, when the image was actually used in the newspaper.

Biographical Notes

Robert D. Robinson (1882-1964) was born in Lafayette, IN, grew up near Lincoln, NB, and came to Grand Rapids in 1922. He learned photographic portrait work during the World War I years at Camp Sherman, near Chillicothe, Ohio, after working in "wild west" shows and as a movie extra in Hollywood. He worked successively for Fast Photo and the Camera Shop. In 1930 Robinson opened his own photographic studio at 150 E. Fulton Street. He retired in 1945 and sold his interest to his two nephews Shelly and Bud Robinson. Robinson never married.

Henry Shelly Robinson (1901-1981) was born near Lincoln, NB and grew up in Muskegon, MI, later moving to Grand Rapids, MI. In 1921 he went to work in his uncle's photographic studio at Camp Sherman. The next year he returned to Grand Rapids and went to work for The Camera Shop, owned by Walter K. Schmidt. In 1935 the Camera Shop was forced to lay off its work force, a victim of the Great Depression. Borrowing against his life insurance policies, Robinson purchased an interest in his uncle's studio. Robinson retired in 1975. In 1923 Robinson married Ruth Lundquist, they had three children, Eugenia, Edwina, and Shelly Van.

Reuben D, "Bud" Robinson (1899-1978) was born near Lincoln, NB, and grew up in Muskegon, MI, later moving to Grand Rapids, MI. He worked as an electrician, sales person, and mechanical inspector until 1935 when he joined his brother at the Robinson Studio, having briefly worked as a photographer in 1925. Bud did most of the in-studio portrait work. He retired in 1964. Robinson was married to Elois Miller, they had 2 children.

Raymond C. Walen (1927-1982) was born in Grand Rapids and graduated from Catholic Central High School. After military service in the army, Walen became a staff photographer for the Robinson Studio in 1955. During the 1960s he became a partner in the studio, buying it outright in 1975. Walen and his wife Mary Beth had two children.

Note:

There were earlier photographers named Robinson on Canal or Monroe Streets, from 1900 to 1920. These were C.B. Robinson, L.B. Robinson, and Leo C. Robinson. It is unknown, at this time, if there were related to the Robinson of the Coll. 125 Robinson Studio, or if any of those earlier works may be represented here.

Robinson Studio

Robert D. Robinson opened the Robinson Photographic Studio in 1930 at 150 E. Fulton. In 1933 the studio was moved around the corner to 7 Jefferson SE, where it remained until it closed in 1989. The Studio specialized in portraits until 1935 when Robinson's nephew, H. Shelly Robinson, a commercial photographer, joined the studio. The next year Shelly's brother, Reuben D. "Bud" Robinson joined the partnership taking over much of the in-studio portrait work.

One of the Studio's early commercial clients was The Grand Rapids Herald, the local morning newspaper, located less than two blocks away. In 1938 the Herald hired the Studio as their exclusive photographer of regional stories. The resulting work load caused the Studio to hire several more photographers. The relationship lasted until 1950, when the Herald hired several of Robinson's employees as newspaper staff photographers.

In 1945 Robert sold his interest in the business to his two nephews. Following World War II the Studio's commercial work expanded dramatically, as did its portraiture with the addition of skilled hand-colorists, such as Rebecca Heyboer. The studio also began doing extensive school portrait work and wedding photographers during the 1950s and 1960s.

In 1963 Bud retired and sold his interest to Shelly, who in 1975 also retired and sold the Studio to one of the staff photographers, Ray Walen. After Walen's unexpected death, his widow, Mary Beth, sold the Studio in 1983 to another staff photographer Wayne McFarland. In 1986 McFarland tentatively sold the Studio to Jeffrey L. Strayer. The Studio closed in March 1989 and reverted to McFarland, who sold the collection and all attendant rights to the Grand Rapids Public Library in May 1989.

Scope and Contents

The collection provides a broad and generally well-identified pictorial record of Grand Rapids, and the West Michigan area from 1926 through 1989. As detailed below, the images depict people, events, building interiors and exteriors, sports, social customs, industrial developments, and politics. Extensive documentation is provided on the entry of women into the work force outside the home, beginning during WWII, early radio and television facilities, houses, industrial and commercial buildings, sporting events, social clubs, industry and products. More extensive documentation is provided in the series descriptions that follow.

The Robinson Studio took pictures for many individuals and firms, and their work may be found in many collections. In most cases these Robinson prints continued to be housed with the source collection where received. Where staff time is available, the image in those other collections is described as a "Robinson" photo, so that a search using that key word may identify these within the collection. In many other cases, no item level descriptions have yet been created.

Coll. 054. In 2004 a project was done to remove many photographs labeled Robinson Studio, since miscellaneous small accession of Robinson prints would now be processed for Coll. 125, not Coll. 054. The items transferred are still currently in 125-955, and not integrated into the regular Robinson print boxes. In some cases the Herald or Commercial or other Robinson negative number has been identified, and added to the photo print. In other cases, these prints remain unmatched to negatives.

Coll. 326, Colorama Studio Collection The Colorama Studio Collection was donated by John Milhaupt and Debakey, both previously employees by Robinson Studio as photographers for the Herald newspaper, and other projects.

Included in this collection are some negatives or photoprints with Robinson Studio Collection numbers, given to these photographers, some years before the Robinson Studio Collection became available to the Grand Rapids Public Library.

General

The information in this Robinson Photographic Studio General Finding Aid summarizes the overall collection, provides lists of negatives and photos held by negative number, or word description usually at the folder level for photos without negatives. However, due to the large size of this collection, this document is not much more than a box list.

For additional descriptive information and indexing to different series within this vary large collection, a number of additional finding aids have been prepared. To date, these Coll. 125 finding aids include:

1. Online searchable database to select Robinson Series, including the "H", "E", "R", "O", and Chicks series. The current version of this database is mounted on the Library's website at: <http://www.grpl.org/cgi-bin/robsearch.cgi>

"H" = Herald photographs, often used in the Grand Rapids Herald newspaper. 1930-1960 years covered Set level records, with each record covering 1 to 300 or more items. No link yet to the actual images.

2. A thesaurus of subject terms, used in this database, is also available on the website.

3. Address Index to Buildings, formerly called the Geographic Access to Buildings. List of Select Robinson Negatives by Street Name and Number. Not yet available online. Does not cover all holdings.

4. Commercial Negatives Series Folder Headings List, 1930-1980's. List of Client Names for the Robinson Commercial Series. 5. Color Negatives Series Folder Headings List, 1951-1988.

Also, many images from the Robinson collection are used in the online exhibits and the "Grand Rapids Photo Archives" on the Library's website.

General

Descriptive Level This finding aid includes general history, series descriptions, lists of negative number ranges, lists of specific set numbers where prints are available, and general descriptions of box contents.

Access to set level descriptions for negatives, and prints where available, in Series H,E,R,O & CH can be obtained by searching the Robinson Studio Collection Database, posted on the GRHSC Website. This index acts as an indirect index to the Grand Rapids Herald, for those stories which actually use the Herald series images taken by the Robinson photographers. It is estimated that this index accesses about 1/16 of the total very large Robinson image collection.

Access to other series is available through in-house files, searched by GRHSC staff. It is expected that some of these series, such as the very large "Commercial" series, will be available through online indexing in the future.

Series IV. 8x10 Commercial "R" Negs., 1935-1936

Processing Information:

Processing Information

Random analysis of Robinson negatives for Vinegar Syndrome deterioration shows this series to be most at risk from this deterioration, with some images already lost. A project in Fall 2005 is creating 144 4x5 copy negatives for select items from this series, plus sampled critical items from other series. It is expected that the original negatives will be stored separately in the freezer, once the copy negative is created. A reference sheet documenting the project action and the items removed from this negative series for the freezer, will sit in the regular Robinson folder. 8X10 photo prints are also being created corresponding these select deteriorating negatives, where the print is currently absent from the collection.

General

The addresses for O Negatives 1792A & 1792B are questionable.

General

Negatives 1792A-1792B

- "Hi-Way" Building. 1930's Deco elements. Address given is 255-325 Market SW. City Directories indicates address 268 and above private. No address for the "City Auto Maintenance Dept., which might have been housed in such as building. 301 Market included several City departments, including Dept. of Public Highway. However, 325-327 is listed as Peninsular Construction Company.
- Apparent small building. 1930's Deco elements. Perhaps 1430 Monroe NW, which was the City Filtration Plant

Series IX. Commercial Negs., 1937-1984

Arrangement

Arranged Alphabetically by client name, according to the Studio's system, with a numbering system added during processing. Each negative packet has a "C" number

Scope and Contents

Approximately 300,000 4"x5" and some 35mm negatives, which comprise the bulk of the Studio's commercial work. Among the more extensive clients are: American Seating, Aquinas College, C&O Railroad, Consumers Powers, Grand Rapids Press, Herpolsheimers, Lions Club, Michcon, Michigan Bell Telephone, Pere Marquette Railway, Peninsular Club, Pennsylvania Railroad, WOOD-TV, WLAV, West Michigan Catholic, and the YMCA.

Images are not necessarily included in an obvious set. For example, the images of John Kennedy, riding on the back of a convertible, during his presidential campaign against Nixon, are included in the Duthler Ford set, since Duthler hired the photos. This means that the more information and keyword clues that the researcher can bring to this list, the more likely the researcher may be in finding a set of negatives which has relevant visual information. Some investigation may be required to identify more key names associated with an event first, before using this list to search for images.

Processing Information

Formerly in Box 926, moved to Box 945. Fuji prints should be in Box 953 and 953.5, as these don't seem to have the color quality and may not have the same stability as the traditional chemical prints, or the new thermal Kodak digital process prints. The Kodak prints are being interfiled in the main H series, but can be determined from the processed date used in this list. Herald prints are expanding in 2009, due to a large number of prints made from what are said to be Vinegar Syndrome negatives (untested). It is believed that neither this list or the actual photos were checked for the existing presence of the photo print when making the Herald VS prints. Thus, duplicates may be encountered.

Processing Information:

Processing Information

The first Fuji print box designated was #953.5. All new prints were marked with that number and placed into that box. When the box was full, another box (#953.6) was designated for Fuji prints and we expanded into it in chronological order which meant that some of the prints marked 953.5 were now in the next box. We stopped designating a box number since we realized the collection would continue to grow and the box numbers would continue to change.

Title/Description	Instances
1. N. Division, ca. 1935 Belknap Hill left, with a tree lined meridian between two streets.	Box 934	Folder 6
2. Coldbrook at N. Division. ca. 1934. Bird's eye view from above an unidentified business with a view to Lookout Hill across the street. A Walker & Co. billboard advertising autos.	Box 934	Folder 6
3. Stairs in construction, Belknap Lookout Hill, ca. 1934. Shows various men at the top and near the base where construction is in progress.	Box 934	Folder 6
4. May 7, 1935—written in white on front of photo. Identified on verso by unknown person as perhaps the Hall St. Hill, but this seems to be out of context with the rest of the images, so may instead be a shorter set of steps at another part of the Lookout Hill area.	Box 934	Folder 6
5. Hastings St., Nov. 18, 1935. Shows a paved road going up hill with cement and rail embankments above right and below left. The lower embankment has stairs on the other side of the rail from the street left. An auto is seen at the top of the stairs in a parking area at the turn of the road. A town story house is there as well.	Box 934	Folder 6

perhap an Octagon house hidden in the trees at the top An iron fence with corner pillars enclose a yard up the hill at right.

7. N. Ionia ca. 1932, looking down the hill with houses in construction, and the Berkey & Gay Furniture Factory in the background.	Box 934	Folder 6
8. 832 N. Ionia, ca. 1932. Shows a single car detached garage and part of a house at left, and part of a house right, with the Belknap Lookout Hill in the background.	Box 934	Folder 6
9. 940 & 942 N. Ionia ca. 1932. Shows a house right and left with the Belknap Lookout Hill in the background.	Box 934	Folder 6
10. Unidentified location from the rear, with more business structures than houses. Two A&P grocery semi trailers, one with "Grandmothers", plus an auto, park near the various mud puddles center right.	Box 934	Folder 6

See Negatives E2045, and probably E2046 & E2047. Inventory. See also prints in Box 929. Even after much work, there are many irregularities in the numbering of the negatives and thus the exhibit prints, for these theatre images. Use the individual negative numbers on the back of the mounts, e.g E2045-18, to find the specific negative. The inventory shows whether these are 4x5 or 8x10. E2045-18 is currently missing 12/10/1999! And is a 4x5 negative. A new 4x5 has been ordered from Corp. Color.

"H" series photoprints, made from negatives since the Collection was received. [Formerly housed with "C" photoprints in Box 926, these "H" items outgrew that box, and have been moved to Box 945 10/99]

This set was meant as a safety backup for select items in the collection. It was originally stored out of state at a special safety storage facility. However, due to increased cost, it has been returned & is housed in the GRPL Archives. Due to the ongoing deterioration of Robinson negatives from Vinegar Syndrome, a very large project to made high quality copy negatives or digital stored elsewhere, needs to be done, to insure long term safety preservation of the large & heavily used collection. small odd white w. handles shelf above slightly raised for this box. Processing Information

An attempt was made to keep Fuji prints separated from prints made using traditional darkroom processing. However, around 2005, due to the migration of most professional studios to digital, and due to the practice of producing most prints inhouse using the Pictography machine, most prints are now made digitally.

Subseries T. Photographic Prints Moved from Coll. 054

Processing Information:

Processing Information

These items are still listed by subject in Coll. 054, but have not yet been processed for access in this collection. Robinson Studio photos which have been received at random, or which existed in the archival collections before the Robinson Studio Collection was received and processed, were previously housed mainly in Coll. 054. They may also be found in other archival collections. Some Copy photo prints of some Robinson photos are still in Coll. 054. However, a project was done during 2004 to remove Robinson original photographs from Coll. 054, and move these to Coll. 125. A cross reference has been added in Coll. 054 from the folder where the photo was previously housed to Box 955 of this collection. No attempt has been made to integrate these prints with other Coll. 125 photo prints at this time. Negatives matching the prints have been identified where possible, but many are still unknown, and may not exist in the Robinson collection.

Detroit Tigers Photographic Prints

General

Commercial Series Nos. C009234-009258, 009260-009279. These items not accessed. These are photoprints using the Fuji Pictograph photoprints from digital files made by scanning the negative. The prints are not of the quality of traditional photographic prints from the studio. Some have a red or blue or yellowish tint in the prints, though a new print on other equipment at other settings might be made from the digital file for better quality. CD with select digital TIF(?) files for Detroit Tigers. 00[5334].1
