Title:	Greater Grand Rapids publishers, printers and publishing collection
ID:	Collection 289
ID [Archivists Toolkit Database::RESOURCE]:	297
Date:	no date
Physical Description:	9.2 Linear Feet 17 boxes plus flat files
Language of the Material:	English .
Abstract:	This is a devised collection containing various small accessions of material on the publishers and the publishing industry of the greater Grand Rapids, Michigan community. Included are materials related to specific publishers, such as Arthur S. White and specific newspaper publishers such as the Grand Rapids Herald. Also included are items relating to publishing houses and printers, such as the James Bayne Co., Dean Hick, the White Companies, or Central Trade plant.

^ Return to Table of Contents

Scope and Contents

---

This is a general collection which holds information about area publishers and printers. In some cases there is also a separate collection of materials related to a firm listed here.

For a list of newspaper and periodical publishers as of the 1890s see the "History of the City of Grand Rapids, Michigan" by Albert Baxter.

The larger percentage of information included in this collection at this time appears to document newspaper publishing. Since this is an open collection, this orientation may change with new additions.

Processing Information

This item is rare & very fragile. (High Priority)
 Microfilm preservation & digital facsimile desired.
 Pages are brittle. Signatures are loose, and all are detached from the spine & covers, with torn loose pages.

General

The Grand Rapids section is first in the book, perhaps because of the local printer. This suggests that possibility that local presses in various Michigan cities could have printed the book, and asks the question whether they could chose their own order, and list their own city first.
