Title:	Milhaupt-Dabakey Colorama Studio collection
ID:	Collection 326
ID [Archivists Toolkit Database::RESOURCE]:	332
Date:	no date
Physical Description:	11.7 Linear Feet
Language of the Material:	English .
Abstract:	The Milhaupt-Dabakey Colorama Studio Collection contains images, mostly in the form of 4x5 negatives, of primarily Grand Rapids, Michigan events, places & people. The images were created by the photographers John Milhaupt or Michael Dabakey, for four different news organizations 1) Grand Rapids Press 2) Detroit Free Press 3) United Press Service (UPI) 4), from the 1940s to the 1980s. As such, these images may sometimes, but not always, be found used as part of news stories associated with those news organizations. Also included in the collection are black & white photographic prints, primarily of fellow photographers. A few negatives are found in the collection that are actually Robinson Studio negatives, a remainder of John Milhaupt's days as a photographer with that separate Grand Rapids studio. Also now being attached to this collection are random small or unknown accessions of Colorama Studio Photos, culled from the generic Grand Rapids Public Library Photo Collection (Coll. 054). Other Colorama Studio photographic prints may exist in other distinct collections within the GRHSC archives, to be cross-referenced to this collection as identified. News story clippings which show the use of the images & provide additional information are being added to the collection, as they become available.

Biographical / Historical

John Milhaupt's family moved from Ohio to the Grand Rapids area ca. 1937, for a job provided from their family friendships with the Fisher's of Norwalk, as in "Body by Fisher" of General Motors. Norwalk Trucking found a home there, perhaps because it was on the historically significant coast to coast motor route U.S. 20. Also, like Grand Rapids, Norwalk was a furniture manufacturing City.

Scope and Contents

The Milhaupt Dabakey Colorama Studio Collection represents only a small portion of the photography of the studio, the largest share being personal and family photography not collected by the GRHSC department.

Other images of the type collected here exist, but have been distributed by Milhaupt to other institutions or clients. Such images may be found occasionally represented in the Colorama photographic prints, now being attached to this collection, or found within other archival collections in the GRHSC Archives.

John Milhaupt reports that the negatives with a corner cut off are those which were actually chosen for use and sent to a source for a story. Others were unused or duplicate images from the shoot. This does not necessarily rule out the reuse of the image another time, and the dates the image is given in the finding aid, though the most accurate available in most cases, probably does not match the actual use date.

^ Return to Table of Contents

Arrangement

The images are arranged by date, with a section at the end for items where no date is known. This order represents the manner in which the work was done, and how the negatives were originally kept, in a packet by the date taken. This arrangement consequently provides the researcher with a chronological view of Grand Rapids and Michigan history, through the images in the collection. Those images which could be identified as being related to a particular site or story, are subarranged together, under the date. Generally, there are four or more sets of images for a particular date. In some cases there are images left over for that packet date, which could not be matched to the other images. Additional research may place these with the correct set of negatives on the correct date, or they may continue to stand alone in the collection.

Negatives were originally received in non-acid free envelopes with the date and a brief note of the different photo jobs for that day. The challenge to the processor was to identify which of the negatives in the packet went with which distinct photo job or story. Some items could be matched visually. Others were identified with the additional assistance of the collection donor and photographer, John Milhaupt. In other cases, news story clippings provided the necessary information for the correct sorting of the negatives. To a large extent, the sorting is the result of the care and knowledge of volunteer processor Barbara Timmerman, long-time Grand Rapids resident and experienced negative processor. During one processing session Barbara found an image of her father playing with the orchestra, and was able to identify several of the other players. Patrons using these images may also provide us with additional identifications, which will be added to the descriptive information in the finding aid.
